SAYS M'KELVEY HIT HIM ON JAW; SEEKS SUMMONS

APPLICATION HELD UP

City Attorney Declares He'll Hear Both Sides Before Making Decision.

Application for a summons against Building Commissioner James N. McKelvey on a charge of disturbing the peace was made to City Attorney Garesche Friday by T. S. Aldridge of 3665A Laclede avenue, custodian of automobiles at Forest Park Highlands. He charged that in a dispute at the Highlands Thursday night, McKelvey struck him on the jaw.

Garesche refused to issue the summons, but told Aldridge and his attorneys, Hudson & Hudson, to appear in his office at 11 a. m. Monday. He said that at that he would have McKelvey appear there, and would hear both sides of the matter before deciding finally on the application for a summons.

Louis Hudson, one of the attorneys, asked that the summons be issued and that the Police Judge be left to pass on the merits of the case. He said that Garesche, by the course he was taking, was virtually setting himself up as judge in the case. The City Attorney insisted that he was acting within his rights.

Wanted Car Turned Around.

Aldridge said McKelvey and another man rode into the Highlands in the Building Commissioner's automobile, and that McKelvey was about to leave the machine standing in a reverse position from that which the other autos occupied. Aldridge asked him to turn the machine about, saying that the rules of the place required all machines to stand in the same position.

"He refused to do as I asked," said Aldridge, "and told me he didn't have to obey the rule, as he was the Building Commissioner. When I insisted, he said he would show me whether I was boss or not, and punched me on the jaw."

Aldridge said he went out and found Patrolman Pine on the grounds and asked him to arrest McKelvey, but that when the policeman heard McKelvey's name he refused to make the arrest. Aldridge then went to the lawyers. He gave them the names of two witnesses to the disturbance.

SETS BANDAGE AFIRE; HAND BADLY BURNED

Man Lights Cigarette After Putting Turpentine on Wounded Member.

David Macklin of 6408 Olive street ran a nail into the palm of his left hand Thursday afternoon and, while members of his family begged him to call a physician, he calmly applied turpentine and a bandage.

"It's only a trifle," said Macklin as he rolled a cigarette and placed it in his mouth.

Then Macklin, forgetting all about the turpentine, held a lighted match between his hands to shield it from the wind. There was a puff of flame and the turpentine-soaked bandage was burned. Dr. H. C. Lund of 6070 Maple avenue, who dressed the injured hand, found it was badly burned. Macklin is 38 years old.

KUHLENENGELKEN TO CHANGE NAME TO WED

Has to Spell Is to Everybody and People Smile When He Pronounces It.

Louis Kuhlenengelken Friday afternoon filed a petition in the Circuit Court asking permission to change his name. He asserts that whenever he tells anyone his name it provokes smiles and that he always has to spell it, in order to make it understood.

One reason which he assigns for the desired change is that he is about to marry and he does not want to inflict an unpronounceable name on her. Another reason is that he wants to register and vote at the coming election and thinks it would be easier to do this if his name was shorter.

As a brief and pronounceable name he suggests the last three syllables of his present one and in future he would be known as Louis Engelken.

DIAZ NEAR DEATH, SAYS PARIS CABLE

MEXICO CITY, July 26.—A special Paris dispatch to a newspaper here says that ex-President Porfirio Diaz is seriously ill and that a fatal result is probable.

No confirmation is obtainable here.

BEE LODGES IN THROAT

Boy Near Suffocation When Insect Flies Into Mouth.

ITHACA, N. Y., July 26.—Aubrey Personius, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Personius of Brocton, seven miles southeast of this city, had a narrow escape from death by suffocation when a bee flew into his mouth and got stuck in his windpipe.

The boy was playing in front of his home when the bee came along. Running to his parents, the child complained that he was choking. Home-made remedies were applied and then the lad was hurried to a hospital. There the physicians gave him relief, although they did not succeed in removing the bee. They think, however, that it was absorbed and that the boy's throat will be cleared again.

HOOP SKIRT ON SHIP

Woman Wears Old-Fashioned Dress, Said to Be Returning.

NEW YORK, July 26.—Mrs. Juliana Horwarth, who arrived today on the Saxonia from Italy, was the most observed passenger aboard, because she wore a hoop skirt that behaved much like a parachute in a windstorm. Mrs. Horwarth, a Scotch woman, looked as if she had stepped out of a fashion magazine of the issue of 1860 or had been cast for a role in "Captain Jinks" or "Bunty Pulls the Strings."

Mrs. Horwarth was unconcerned over the fact that she is the first woman to reach America signalizing the return of the diving-bell skirt, which is said to be due here in the cycle of the fashions.

ROOSEVELT TELLS A YARN

He Is Glad That Bryan Has Heard of Hamilton.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 26.—Col. Roosevelt was told that William J. Bryan in his newspaper had criticized him as a reactionary and "Hamiltonian."

"I'm mighty glad," said the Colonel smilingly, "that Mr. Bryan has heard of Hamilton. It reminds me of a man in Boston who was asked if he liked to read the Bible. 'Like it?' he said. 'I should say I do. There are not 10 men in Boston who could have written that book.'"

GIRL, 13, SORRY SHE TRIED TO DIE; WILL IGNORE GOSSIPS

Leona Sigman Says She Was Ostracized Because She Was "Queen of the Pasture Bums."

TITLE IS COMPLIMENTARY

Now She'll Hold "Nose in Air" and Scorn Girls and Women Who Talked About Her.

Investigation of the attempt of Leona Sigman, 13 years old, to poison herself at her home, 5557 Greer avenue, revealed Friday the strange story of a child whose popularity with the boys of her neighborhood had caused her to be ostracised by the other girls.

The child is spoken of in the neighborhood as "The Queen of the Pasture Bums." The title, however, is not one of reproach, but of honor. The "Pasture Bums" is an organization of some social caste in that part of the city. It is made up of the best boys in the neighborhood of Clara and Greer avenues.

"Queen" by Right of Conquest.

The playground of these boys is a big pasture near the Sigman home. From this the boys named themselves the "Pasture Bums," a title in which they take much pride.

Leona's title of "Queen" is hers by right of conquest. The boys declare she is the prettiest girl in the neighborhood and is not a spoilsport, as so many girls are.

All of which was very fine for Leona, according to the child and her mother, until the other girls and the other girls' mothers got to taking notice. Then the gossips got busy, the other girls snubbed her, Leona says, and Leona declared she often, of late, had noticed the heads of mothers wagging at her over the back fences.

This worried the girl so much that, according to her mother, she went home in great agony of soul, got a bottle of iodine and started to drink it. Her foster sister, Iva Barnhart, 8 years old, snatched the bottle from her hands and ran with it to Mrs. Sigman. The mother became excited and called a policeman, who made Leona promise not to repeat the attempt.

Now Sorry She Was Foolish.

After a good night's rest the "Queen" said she was sorry she had been so foolish. But she added that she found her ostracism unbearable. She has decided, as she expressed it, "to hold my nose high in the air and let them know I don't care what they think about me."

As she said this to a Post-Dispatch reporter the "Queen" illustrated by an upward tilt of the chin how she expected to carry her head in the presence of the other girls. She succeeded in looking very scornful, notwithstanding that she was on her knees scrubbing a floor, her sleeves rolled to her elbows and her plump arms shining with soapsuds.

Woman Slips Into Bed of Lime.

Mrs. Elizabeth Golish, 37 years old, employed at the City Sanitarium, in alighting from a westbound Page car at Plymouth and Hamilton avenues Thursday evening, stepped into a bed of slacked lime and sank knee deep. Witnesses helped her out, and she was given medical aid in a nearby residence. She was slightly burned.

GIRL OF 17 DIES AFTER OPERATION; KEEPS HER SECRET

Virginia Edwards Refuses to Tell Name of Person Who Attended Her.

A TELEPHONE OPERATOR

Would Not Admit Her Condition Until Too Late to Save Life—Man Unnamed.

Virginia Edwards, 17 years old, a telephone girl, kept to the last the secret which, if known to her relatives and the police, would place the responsibility for her death.

The girl, who had boarded at 614 Chouteau avenue, died Thursday at St. Mary's Infirmary as the result of an operation. She refused to tell who committed the operation, or who was responsible for the condition which caused her to resort to the desperate expedient.

Little light was cast on the mystery at Friday's session of the Coroner's inquest, although the girl's fiance, George Heaven; her aunt, Mrs. T. W. Pendarvis of 1711A South Broadway, and Dr. G. E. Whittlesey, who last attended her, testified. The hearing was adjourned until Saturday in order to get the testimony of a physician who, according to the girl's landlady, attended the girl soon after her illness commenced.

Fiance Gives Testimony.

Heaven, a street car conductor, is 31 years old and lives at 3812 North Market street. He declared on the witness stand that he and the girl had kept company three months, were engaged and had planned to be married in September, but he denied that he was in any way responsible for the conditions which led to her death, or that he knew of them before others did. When asked about the disparity between his age and the girl's, he said she had told him she was 18.

"She sent word to me July 16 to come and see her," he said, "and I went the next morning. Dr. Whittlesey told me she had typhoid fever. Virginia had told me a few days before that she was taking medicine given her by a physician because she was 'all run down.' I had nothing to do with sending her to that physician.

"When she was taken to the hospital Dr. Whittlesey remarked to me that I ought to marry her. I told him I had intended to marry her, but that there was no occasion for him to make such a remark to me."

Heaven made a favorable impression by his testimony, and the girl's aunt, who had previously questioned him, expressed her belief that he was telling the truth. He was excused at the end of his testimony.

From Hamburg, Mo.

The aunt, Mrs. Pendarvis, testified that Miss Edwards came to St. Louis last October from her home in Hamburg, Mo., and obtained employment in the Victor exchange of the Kinloch Telephone Co. She lived at the Pendarvis home until May, then removed, as she said at the time, to a girl friend's home on Pestalozzi street.

Mrs. Pendarvis said that while the girl lived at her house she had no men callers, and showed indifference to men's society, not caring to go out in the evening, except to an occasional picture show. After she departed, the aunt saw little of her. July 16, she said, she was summoned to see her at the Chouteau avenue house. She did not know, until that time, that the girl was not still living on Pestalozzi street.

Mrs. Pendarvis said the girl was very ill, but would not admit that any act of her own had caused the illness, or that any operation had been performed. Mrs. Pendarvis called Dr. Whittlesey, and he was unable to get any information from the girl.

Dr. Whittlesey took up his testimony at that point, and said that because of the girl's refusal to admit the facts which he suspected, he entered her case on the infirmary record as typhoid fever.

Another Operation Performed.

He said he insisted on an examination, which was made by himself and Dr. W. A. Smith of 904 North Twenty-second street. They found that an operation had been performed and that another operation was necessary. The second operation was performed July 18, and the girl died a week later from blood poisoning.

To the very last, Dr. Whittlesey testified, the girl refused to answer any of his questions. When he asked her why she would not tell him the truth, he said, she replied, "If I did, you'd be mad."

MULE BITES CHILD'S HAND

Girl's Finger Must Be Amputated, Physicians Say.

Two-year-old Myrtle Woods, daughter of Walter Woods, a farmer living 14 miles northeast of Belleville, tried to feed a handful of hay to a mule in the barnyard Friday.

The mule, in seizing the hay, bit the child's hand so severely that the little finger, physicians say, will have to be amputated.

WIDOW'S RIGHT TO SELL UNPAID FOR STOCK IS UPHELD

Court Declines to Restrain Mrs. Rose Bambrick or Rule Notes Are Outlawed.

DEAL INVOLVES $40,000

Sale Made, Securities Bid In, Despite Contest Put Up by William H. Swift.

Judge Fisher refused Friday to issue an injunction restraining the sale of 112½ shares of stock of the Fruin-Bambrick Construction Co. held by Mrs. Rose Bambrick as collateral security on notes signed by William H. Swift, president of the construction company. Mrs. Bambrick had advertised the stock for sale at auction at the courthouse door.

Swift sought to enjoin the sale of the stock, and in a cross bill filed declared that the notes were outlawed and asked for their return to him.

The stock was auctioned at noon and was bid in by Attorney Thomas J. Rowe for $1000. Rowe acted on behalf of Miss Claire Bambrick, daughter of Mrs. Rose Bambrick.

Mrs. Bambrick, widow of Patrick Bambrick, one of the founders of the construction company, resides at 5545 Von Versch avenue. After the death of her husband she sold the stock belonging to her and her children to Swift, taking his four notes, each for $10,000, dated in March, 1900. With each note 112½ shares of stock of the company was pledged as collateral security.

Mrs. Bambrick filed suit against Swift on the four notes July 16. She followed up the suit by advertising the stock pledged with one note for sale.

Attorney Thomas J. Rowe, representing Mrs. Bambrick, said that Swift made the last interest payment on the notes in 1906, and that they are not outlawed. Rowe produced letters Friday from Swift to Mrs. Bambrick, one of date of May 6, 1912, acknowledging the indebtedness and expressing his gratitude to Mrs. Bambrick for her leniency. He said in the letter that he had won a $50,000 judgment against a railroad and that as soon as he made collection the notes would be paid.

In another letter he stated that his business affairs had been turned over to his nephew, William P. Durkin, and suggested that Mrs. Bambrick see him.

Swift was a political power of St. Louis many years ago. He lives at 4235 West Pine boulevard.

SENTRY, HURT, IS NEAR DEATH

MRS ANNA POWITZKY

POWITZKY HOME 3555 LONGFELLOW BLVD.

Frederick Klein Pushed From Coping of Longfellow Boulevard Mansion as Indirect Result of Mrs. Powitzky's Attempts to Break in and Prove She Hasn't Deserted Husband.

A two weeks' siege of Henry F. Powitzky's beautiful home at 3555 Longfellow boulevard by his wife, Mrs. Anna Powitzky, and private detectives was the indirect cause of Frederick Klein being thrown in front of an automobile Tuesday night, and seriously injured, it was revealed Friday.

Hitherto the reason for the fight in which Klein was hurt had been a mystery. Klein, who has a fractured skull, has been unconscious most of the time since he was taken to the city hospital. Physicians there fear he cannot recover.

Thrown From a Coping.

It is now known that he was thrown from a coping at the Powitzky home in a fight between guards employed by Andrew Watson, a process server, to prevent Mrs. Powitzky from breaking into the home which she left when she and her husband separated July 23, 1911.

Further investigation by Post-Dispatch reporters show that at least once Mrs. Powitzky succeeded in gaining access to the home, but was ejected.

The siege of the Powitzky chateau, one of the finest homes in South St. Louis, adds another to the long chapter of exciting and dramatic events which have followed thick and fast since the separation of the wealthy carriage manufacturer and his wife.

Guarded for Two Weeks.

For more than two weeks the Powitzky home has been more like an armed garrison than a modern residence. Guards have been camped on its terraces and pergolas, and sentries have spent the long watches of the night patrolling its lawns and gardens.

Process servers in Powitzky's service have sharply challenged private detectives who owed their fealty to Mrs. Powitzky.

Several times the uniforms of policemen have added color and military realism to the warlike atmosphere.

If she would achieve her purpose Mrs. Powitzky must get into the house and, if possible, see her husband before Aug. 16.

She Departs When Police Are Called.

Thursday night of last week she ran the gauntlet of the watchful guards and entered the house. She departed when policemen were called to eject her.

As she rode away in her automobile she defiantly announced that she would be back. She has kept her word. Each night she cruises about the house in her big touring car, but thus far she has made no further attempt to scale the battlements.

Mrs. Powitzky's reason for wanting to establish residence in the home before Aug. 16 is to have a legal foundation as firm as that of the home she is besieging.

After the quarrel, which she says made it necessary for her to leave home, she filed suit for a divorce, charging her husband with stinginess and indignities. More than 60 women well known in South Side society circles testified in her behalf at the trial last December. After having the case under advisement more than three months, Judge Shields refused to grant the decree to Mrs. Powitzky.

Hears Husband Plans Suit.

Now Mrs. Powitzky has heard that her husband plans to sue her for divorce on grounds of desertion. Under the law, the suit cannot be filed until Aug. 16, one year after the alleged desertion.

This gives Mrs. Powitzky a double motive for desiring to force an entrance to the house. If she can establish her residence there, even for a short time, and thus indicate to her husband that she is willing to return to him she can thwart him in his purpose to charge her with desertion.

The husband cannot allege desertion, according to lawyers, if at any time within the year—or before Aug. 16—his wife returns to the home and establishes herself as its mistress.

Mrs. Powitzky was ejected last Thursday night, but that was done by the police. She is not sure that such an ejection would count in her defense of a desertion charge, and so she is still making nightly efforts to get in.

A second reason for Mrs. Powitzky's persistence is said by her friends to be that, in the event that her attempts to reestablish herself in the home and in her husband's affections should fail she, too, will file a second divorce suit alleging desertion.

As a basis for this action she will be prepared to show that she left the home unwillingly at the time of the separation and to prove by producing evidence that she returned to the home, but was not permitted to stay there.

All of Mrs. Powitzky's efforts to have a personal interview with her husband on her frequent visits to the house have failed. Each time she has been told that Powitzky is out of town.

Dr. C. O. C. Max and his wife are the present occupants of the house. Mrs. Max is Powitzky's daughter by a former marriage. Dr. Max says he has leased the home from Powitzky at a rental of $150 a month.

Tilts With Her Stepdaughter.

Mrs. Powitzky and her stepdaughter have had several tilts since the seige of the chateau began.

The hurling of Klein in front of an automobile at the Powitzky home last Tuesday night was a climax to many exciting events which had caused policemen to be summoned frequently from the Magnolia Avenue Station.

Patrolman Frank H. Pearson told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he had been called three times in a week.

"The first time was a week ago Monday," said Pearson. "When I got to the house Mrs. Max told me Mrs. Powitzky had been there and tried to break in.

"The following Thursday night, when I called in at the station, I was told that someone had telephoned that there was trouble over at the Powitzky home. I found Patrolman Murphy there when I arrived. Mrs. Max told us that Mrs. Powitzky had got into the house and that she wanted us to put her out. While we were talking, Mrs. Powitzky came to the door and said she had more right there than anybody else. Mrs. Max showed us a lease for the house. We put it up to Acting Lieutenant Dris-

TOKIO HUSHED AS IT WAITS FOR THE EMPEROR'S DEATH

Crowd Lingers in Heat With Bowed Heads Outside the Palace for News of Ruler's Condition and Only Sound Heard Is Occasional Cries of the Newsboys.

PATIENT UNABLE TO TAKE NOURISHMENT

By Associated Press.

TOKIO, July 26.—The suspense in the capital has been intense since the regular bulletin issued at noon showed that the condition of Mutsuhito, the Japanese Emperor, had become worse. A bulletin issued at 8 o'clock in the evening contained merely the words "no change," and this only served to increase the anxiety.

It was plainly evident at evening that His Majesty's condition was extremely grave, and that the physicians were doing their utmost to sustain the remaining feeble spark of life.

At 10 o'clock tonight the great park outside the entrances to the palace grounds presented a remarkable scene. Thousands of persons were gathered under the dwarf pine trees, many praying and all showing sorrowful anxiety. Among the upper branches of the magnificent pine trees surrounding the palace, high above the outer park, a number of paper lanterns showing a recognition of the homage of the multitude occasionally swung as if showing that the vital spark still lingered and conveying a message of hope to the people.

The nature of His Majesty's malady, which is indicated as acute nephritis complicated by uremic poisoning and which began to cause serious alarm about July 19, has prevented the imperial patient taking sufficient nourishment and he has continually become weaker.

The bulletins have hitherto maintained a hopeful tone and it was hoped that His Majesty would rally, but instead he appears to have suffered a relapse and it is feared that his heart cannot stand the strain.

A remarkable hush prevailed over this city this morning. Even during the business hours of the day almost the only sounds heard was the occasional cry of the newspaper boys selling extras. Outside the palace in the extreme heat of midday the patient crowd waited with bowed heads for news of His Majesty's condition. It is believed the end is very near.

Prince Aritomo Yamagata, President of the Privy Council; Marquis Kimmochi Saionji, the Premier, and Count Chiaki Watanabe, Minister of the Imperial Household, held a conference today, during which they made preparations for eventualities. The Crown Prince, after a long stay in the imperial sick room, returned to his residence at 1:15 this afternoon.

JAPANESE WAR SCARE ABSURD, SAYS ELIOT

He Declares at Honolulu, However, That the Empire Cannot Favor Disarmament.

HONOLULU, July 26.—Dr. C. W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard University, who is returning from a tour of the Orient in connection with the world peace movement, declared in an address here that neither China nor Japan favored disarmament. Such a course would be impossible for Japan, he said, because of her insular position, which made it necessary for her to be able to protect her routes of ocean commerce.

Dr. Eliot characterized the Japanese war scares of recent years as absurd. Japan, he said, was not in the least inclined to be warlike and would only fight as a last possible resort if attacked. The only hope of world-wide disarmament, Dr. Eliot declared, lies in the American policy of exemption of private property from attack at sea.

Dr. Eliot is carrying to the United States a memorial signed by many leading Chinese statesmen asking that an American library be established at Pekin.

CARDINALS DELAYED; GAME IS POSTPONED

BOSTON, July 26.—The Cardinals, en route from St. Louis, failed to reach Boston in time for the scheduled game with the Braves here this afternoon. As a result it was necessary to postpone the contest. Arrangements will probably be made for the playing of two games tomorrow.

Y. W. C. A. STRIFE IS DISCUSSED BY BOARD MEMBERS

Mrs. Porter Says They Won't Be Forced Into Explaining Why Miss Schooley Quit.

OPPOSED TO PUBLICITY

Exception Is Taken to Classification of Leaders as "Society Women."

The publication in the Post-Dispatch Thursday of the strife that had been caused in the Y. W. C. A. by the action of the Board of Directors in dropping Miss Ella Schooley, the general secretary, has lead to the public discussion for the first time of the matter by members of the board of directors.

Hitherto the board members had declined to talk of their reasons in letting Miss Schooley go, even to members of the Welfare Council of the Y. W. C. A. The Welfare Council is a committee composed of business women whose office it is to advise with the board members on questions concerning the good of the Y. W. C. A.

In a statement to a Post-Dispatch reporter Friday Mrs. William Porter, one of the most active members of the board, said:

"Several days ago, when we heard that this matter was liable to become public, a number of the board members who happened to meet at the Y. W. C. A. discussed the advisability of making a public statement. It was thought best not to do so.

Says Threat Was Made.

"The board members were not going to be forced by anyone to make an explanation in the Miss Schooley matter and will not be forced to do so now either. This is not the first time that such an attempt has been made. Once before Miss Schooley and two of her young women friends threatened members of the board with the newspapers if certain things were not done as they thought they should be.

"The board members are Christian women. And the only reason they have for declining to tell why Miss Schooley was dismissed—if you insist on using the word dismissed, though the fact is that Miss Schooley resigned—is because they do not wish to injure any woman. To state the reasons for Miss Schooley's dismissal would hurt no one but Miss Schooley herself. And the board members have no desire to hinder Miss Schooley in any employment she may have elsewhere.

"As to whether Miss Lilian Truesdell, the assistant secretary, resigned in sympathy with Miss Schooley, of course I cannot say positively. I don't think she did, however. Miss Truesdell would have been re-engaged, but perhaps not at the position she held under Miss Schooley. She was placed in that position by Miss Schooley.

"And I know that Miss Truesdell had placed a request with the board that would not have been honored.

"Admirable in Some Ways."

"As to Miss Edith Wilkinson, the educational secretary, perhaps she resigned in sympathy with Miss Schooley. I do not know. Miss Schooley was an admirable general secretary—in some ways. I will say for her that she could do a man's work and she was indefatigable while we had our building campaign on. But there were other respects in which she did not come up to expectations and the board thought a change would be for the better.

"The published report that the board did not favor the alleged policy of Miss Schooley to gather into the association membership Jews, Catholics or others not of Protestant persuasion is not true. As far as I know there were no differences of opinion on this point.

"The two young business women from the Welfare Council, the Misses Jessie Moller and Dorothy Marion, who called on the board in Miss Schooley's behalf, expressed themselves when leaving as satisfied with the board's action."

Mrs. Porter supplemented her interview with the following written statement:

"Because of want of co-operation in adopting the policies outlined by the board, the directors, after very careful consideration, did not re-engage Miss Schooley for another year, term to begin Sept. 1, 1912. They accepted her resignation at the time she desired. The question as to whether Miss Schooley was orthodox did not come up at all, in fact, I believe she is orthodox. The entire board is desirous of the entire young womanhood of St. Louis entering into and benefiting by the association, whether Catholic, Protestant or Jew.

Largest in World.

"So there is no cause for difference there. The attitude of the board of directors toward the business woman is shown by the fact that there is an association in St. Louis at all and that in the six years of its existence it has grown to be the largest in the world.

"PEARL E. PORTER."

Dr. Porter, who was present at the interview, with his wife, objected to the statement that the board of directors, including his wife, were all society women as the business women of the association said they were.

"There is no reason for calling my wife a society woman," said Dr. Porter. "All her life she has given her time and attention to the interests of wage-earning girls. She has never bothered with society, but has been devoting herself unselfishly to the interests of others.

Mrs. J. J. Fisher, 5839 Cates avenue, another member of the board, who gives a great deal of her time and money to philanthropic works, also objects to being classed by members of the Welfare Council as a society woman.

Mrs. Fisher of a Post-Dispatch reporter. Then she continued: "I work as hard as any wage earner. I go out every morning at 9 or 9:30 o'clock, see to it that working girls of the association who are in ill health get automobile rides, and flowers when they are in the hospital, try to look after them when they have no other friends, console with the despairing and unfortunate and return home in the evening as worn out as any woman that has been working for a wage all day. Many of those who are referred to as wage earners and business women are graduates of Byrn Mawr and Vassar and such institutions so why should we board members be called society women.

Sees Little Caste Spirit.

"Then why should Mrs. John H. McCluney, wife of the president of the State National Bank, another of our board members, be classed as a society woman? Her whole interest is in her church and the Y. W. C. A. If there is any justification for referring to some of these women as society women it is only because of the positions of their husbands. There is no institution I know of in which there is less of the caste spirit than the Y. W. C. A."

Mrs. Fisher, however, would not favor the admission of business women to the Board of Directors.

"It is altogether impracticable," said Mrs. Fisher. "The board meets never less than once a month, and often four or five times in the month. Sometimes the meetings last all day. There are a multiplicity of business affairs to be looked after. An employed woman could not leave her work to attend to the business of the board.

"I know because we have tried it. We induced a business woman to take a place on the Board, but she was compelled to resign. She could not give up the time from the business at which she earned her living.

Would Heal Breach.

"If there is a breach in the association between the so-called society women and the business women over the letting go of Miss Schooley I am anxious that it shall be healed and am ready to co-operate with the business women of the Welfare Council in anything they may have in mind.

"Why Miss Schooley was let go I do not know. I know her failure to co-operate with the board was discussed at one meeting, but I was not present. Anyhow, secretaries are always coming and going. Miss Schooley was a woman of rare ability, but we could not have her all the time.

Mrs. C. C. Rainwater who has been active in Women's Christian Association work in St. Louis for over 40 years told a Post-Dispatch reporter that she would not discuss why Miss Schooley was not retained, but would stand with the remainder of the board in the matter.

"This board," said Mrs. Rainwater, "is elected by the entire membership of the association. Once the board is elected, it has full power. The national organization may submit policies, but the board can suit itself as to whether it will follow them. The national organization has no authority over the selection of officers by the local association. The local board is supreme. The board knows whether it wishes to retain Miss Schooley and no explanation is due either to the young business women of the Welfare Council or to anyone else."

Mrs. Victor Rhodes is the only other member of the board now in the city. She was not at home when a Post-Dispatch reporter called there Thursday evening.

Miss Edith Wilkinson, the educational secretary, who has resigned in sympathy with Miss Schooley, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that there were so many elements entering into the differences that have arisen that she did not think justice could be done by a newspaper article and so would not discuss the situation at all.

She said Miss Schooley and others had not discussed it because they feared harm would be done to the association if it became known that there was a split in its ranks.

BEAUTIFUL GIRLS AT ST. MATTHEW'S CHURCH CARNIVAL

Feature of Friday Night Program Is Boxing Bout—Entertainment Varied.

Big crowds are attending the midsummer carnival of St. Matthew's Catholic Church, at Sarah street and Maffitt avenue, which began Tuesday evening. Pretty girls abound at the carnival, and each night there is a complete change of program. The feature event for Friday night is a boxing bout between Joe McCann and Cyrus Brooks.

Irish dances, Barry brothers; vocal solo, Miss Statia Sullivan; Le Moine Comedy Four, C. Martin, H. Darre, L. Noelke, J. Kemeyer; vocal solo, Miss Edna Reilly; song and dance, Genevieve Keon and Ruth Rogers; "They've Got to Keep an Eye on You," under direction of Miss Alma Noelke; Irish washerwoman dance, Wlefrid Dowling, James Hardy, John Cunningham, under direction of Miss Anna Scheer; vocal solo, Miss Ethel Hebener; Highland fling dance, Vincent Sanguinet, Henry Farris and Charles Schuly, under direction of Miss Anna Scheer.

All those who will interpret Irish dances and songs are expert amateur entertainers. There will be several choice comedy sketches.

MAYOR USED SHOVEL TO ENFORCE VETO

Tears Up Sidewalk When Bill Is Passed and May Go to Prison.

ARMA, Kan., July 26.—Executive veto, as enforced by Mayor John Morgan of Arma, may result in sending this town's Mayor to the State pentitentiary if he is convicted on a charge of felonious and malicious destruction of property, filed against him today by the County Attorney. Several weeks ago the City Council passed an ordinance providing for concrete sidewalks around the city park. The Mayor vetoed the bill.

The City Council, at its next session, passed the ordinance over the executive's veto, and the work was ordered. Two days ago Morgan, passing the City Park, and seeing the work under way, stopped to inspect it. He became angered, and, picking up a shovel, scooped out a square of green concrete and trampled on the remainder of the offending walk. Citizens then asked the City Prosecutor to file charges against their strenuous Mayor.

POSTAL THEFT CASE UP

5 Youths Charged With Southwest Missouri Robberies.

The case against Louis Thurman, Riley Thurman, Clarence Marler, Frank Cole and Arthur Schrumm, charged with robbing postoffices in various sections of Missouri, came up for a hearing before United State Commissioner Irvine Mitchell in the Federal Building, Friday morning and was continued.

These five men, the first named two being brothers, were brought to St. Louis Thursday by United States Deputy Marshal J. J. McLaughlin with four warrants issued against them. Friday a fifth warrant was received from Blackwell, St. Louis County, Mo., charging them with having entered the postoffice at that place on April 29, 1911, robbing it of $58.95 in cash, $35.13 in money orders, and $26 in other postoffice property.

BULL MOOSE—BLIND TIGER

ATLANTA, Ga., July 26.—J. F. Race, one of the delegates chosen today to represent the Georgia Bull Moose at the Chicago convention, was fined $200 by Recorder Broyles, on a charge of running a "blind tiger."

Race is president of numerous "clubs" that have sprung up since the prohibition law went into effect. He was a Roosevelt delegate to the recent Chicago convention and is active in the Roosevelt movement in Georgia.

FRENCH MARKET PASSES

War on Fly Compels Reconstruction of New Orleans Place.

NEW ORLEANS, July 26.—The French Market, which was established in the latter part of the eighteenth century, soon is to pass into history. The Bazar, where four generations of New Orleans housewives bought their meat and vegetables, where artists and story writers haunted dark nooks for echoes of ancient New Orleans, is to be sacrificed on the altar of modern sanitation.

War on the housefly is mainly responsible for conditions that led up to the edict compelling almost complete reconstruction of the market.

NO ACTION TAKEN IN CASE AGAINST JOHNSTON'S TYPIST

The mystery of the arrest of Miss Mildred Kurtenacker, stenographer for Rowland L. Johnston, former Prosecuting Attorney of St. Louis County, deepened Friday when Miss Kurtenacker's preliminary examination was scheduled to come up befor Justice of the Peace Ossenfort at Kirkwood.

Ossenfort and Prosecuting Attorney Mills refused to tell newspaper reporters what had happened at the hearing and Mills refused to show to her attorney a copy of the warrant upon which Miss Kurtenacker had been arrested. Miss Kurtenacker was not in court, but was represented by William Grodzki, lawyer.

Asked Copy of Warrant.

Grodzki was the only person there who would tell anything about the hearing.

"I went out to Ossenfort's court," he said, "and found the Justice there and Prentice Johnston, a brother of Rowland. I asked Ossenfort for a copy of the information and the warrant against Miss Kurtenacker."

"'I haven't got them,' the Judge replied. 'I don't know anything about them.'

"At that moment Mills came in, excited and out of breath. He asked me 'where is your client?'

"I told him she was ill and couldn't be there. He replied that he didn't see then what he could do.

"Ho took out a package of papers. I asked him if the warrant and information were there. He replied, 'You know what the law is about a Prosecuting Attorney giving out any information.'

"'Yes,' I answered, 'and I know what the law is about the publicity of a warrant upon which a person is arrested, that it is a public document.'

"'That's my business,' Mills answered me. I asked him what he was going to do and got no answer.

Would Have Girl in Court.

"I told him then that if he wanted to dismiss the case he could call up our office any day that was suitable and we would have Miss Kurtenacker in court whenever he was ready.

"'I don't want anything to do with your office,' Mills replied. After he had said a few words more he went away. I waited around a while and heard neither the Judge nor his Clerk say anything about the case. Then I came back to St. Louis.

When a Post-Dispatch reporter asked Ossenfort what had been done, he replied:

"I am not at liberty to answer any questions concerning the case. The statutes give me the right to keep silent, and I am under instructions to do so."

He did not say under whose instructions. Mills also refused to tell the reporter anything about the matter.

"There on State Business."

"I was there on State business," he said. "I can give you no information about this under the law."

He refused to answer whether the matter had been referred to a grand jury, and declined to say whether the warrant against the typist is still in force.

Miss Kurtenacker was arrested in St. Louis July 18, by city detectives and county officials, was hurled to Clayton, put in jail by Constable Bode with two negresses, was held incommunicado and was released as mysterously as she was arrested.

It was said she was charged with grand larceny. All efforts to see the warrant on which she was arrested have proved unavailing. She has filed a $100,000 damage suit against those who arrested her.

TAFT TO FIRE T. R. MAN

Georgia Revenue Collector Refuses to Resign.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—Internal Revenue Collector J. O. Thompson of Alabama today notified President Taft that he would not resign as he had been requested to do by the President. Thompson says he will not quit unless forced out. At the Treasury Department it was learned that steps will be taken to discharge Thompson.

The fight to oust Thompson is the result of politics, although Treasury Department officials assert they have charges of unsatisfactory conduct against him. Thompson lined himself up with the Roosevelt faction in Alabama soon after Postmaster-General Hitchcock broke with Secretary Hilles.

NEGROES' SLAYER HANGED

Two Nashville White Men Killed Old Man and Children.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 26.—Two white men, George Sheldon and John Bailey, were hanged here today for the murder of Ben Pettigrew, an old negro, and his two children.

As Pettigrew and his children came along the road driving a load of hay they were shot down. Dispute over land is said to have been the motive.

NOMINEES DESERT TAFT

Two Jo Daviess County (Ill.) Republicans Withdraw.

GALENA, Ill., July 26.—Donald A. Callahan and Paul Scott, Republican nominees for State's Attorney and Surveyor, respectively of Jo Daviess County, today filed notice of their withdrawal from the county ticket rather than support President Taft.

Scott had no Democratic opposition. The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or pub-

THAW IS AGAIN ORDERED BACK TO HIS ASYLUM

Stanford White's Slayer Loses in Habeas Corpus Proceedings for Freedom.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., July 26.—Harry K. Thaw in the eyes of the law is still insane and must remain in the asylum where he was placed on Feb. 1, 1908, after he had killed Stanford White.

Justice Martin J. Keogh of the Supreme Court today denied Thaw's application for freedom. The Court took the ground that Thaw's release would be dangerous to public safety.

The decision did not come as a surprise. Judge Keogh had stated that it would be a brief one and this was taken to mean that it would be unfavorable to Thaw.

In his opinion Justice Keogh briefly sketched the history of several efforts of Thaw to obtain discharge from the hospital.

"In May, 1908," he said, "he (Thaw) obtained a writ of habeas corpus to secure his discharge on the ground that h was then sane. The question of his sanity was carefully inquired into by Mr. Justice Morschauser, who in an able opinion, decided that he was then insane and that it would be unsafe to set him free.

Dangerous to Public.

"In June, 1909, another writ of habeas corpus was sued out in his behalf, an exhaustive inquiry was had into his sanity and a lucid opinion written by Mr. Justice Mills in which he decided that he was then insane and that it would be dangerous to the public peace and safety to grant his discharge.

"The present writ was obtained to secure the release of Harry Thaw on the ground that he is now sane, and the question of his present sanity.

WILSON TO STUMP SEVERAL STATES

Announcement Made He Will Go to Maine Latter Part of August.

SEAGIRT, N. J., July 26.—From Gov. Wilson's retreat, where he has been working since last Monday on his speech of acceptance, came word today that he will put on the finishing touches and return to the New Jersey capitol tonight.

Close advisers of the Governor announce that he will go to Maine the latter part of August to make two or three speeches. The election takes place on the first Tuesday in September in that State. Chairman McCombs and members of the new campaign committee have pointed out to Gov. Wilson that a Democratic victory in Maine in September would serve to make the Democratic landslide in November more sweeping.

Later in the campaign, it is said, Gov. Wilson will visit many of the debatable states, making a number of speeches in Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin.

LIFE-SAVER RESCUES UMBRELLA, THEN SELF

Patrol to Protect Eads Bridge Painters Chases Umbrella and and Gets a Ducking.

A life-saver stationed south of Eads Bridge to rescue painters who might fall from the structure, saved no lives Thursday, but the wind gave him a half-mile chase after his umbrella and caused him to get a ducking.

He was seated under a large umbrella in a rowboat when a sudden gust of wind sent the umbrella down stream. Turning the boat about, he started in pursuit and, after a long race, caught it. In an effort to get it aboard the boat he was upset and a second race took place, this time between man and boat. With the umbrella in one hand and an oar in the other he succeeded in capturing the boat and climbing in.

After a half hour's hard pull the lifesaver was back at his post. He has nailed the umbrella to the boat.

SOUTH APPROACH URGED

The South Side Welfare and Improvement Association, at its meeting Thursday evening at Union Hall, Eighteenth and Lynch streets, unanimously indorsed the southwestern approach to the Municipal Free Bridge, in favor of the Manufacturers' Railway Co., and will petition the Council to pass such a bill.

The association also favored more extensive street car facilities between Chouteau avenue and Chippewa street, in an easterly and westerly direction. C. J. Kostuba is president of the association and E. Ganter secretary. George J. Heleck is chairman of the Publicity Committee.

FASTS 10 MONTHS, DINES

Moccasin Doubles Length in Long Sleep.

NEW YORK, July 26.—Sleepy Billy, the aquarium's pet water moccasin, broke a 10-months' fast by devouring twice his own length in killie fish. The last meal Billy took before he went to sleep late last September, when he ate a school of young killies.

When he awoke Foreman Morgan tried to tempt him with a young frog, but the moccasin declined. Dried killies, three inches long, proved acceptable. Before he went to sleep Billy was 12¼ inches long. After he awoke he measured 27 inches.

SNEED WHO KILLED RANCHER REPORTED TO BE WITH WIFE

Friends Say Texas Banker Has Joined Woman, Who Ran Away With Victim's Son.

FORT WORTH, Tex., July 26.—It is reported here that John B. Sneed, rich banker of Amarillo, Tex., who shot and killed Capt. A. G. Boyce, a wealthy ranch owner, has become reconciled with Mrs. Sneed. Both Sneed and his wife have gone away and friends assert they have gone to Georgetown, Tex., to reside.

Al Boyce, a son of the slain ranchman, ran away with Mrs. Sneed last winter. They took $100,000 with them and were traced to Winnipeg, Canada, and were brought back to the United States.

Later the elder Boyce defended his son and a quarrel followed in which he was killed. At his trial Sneed alleged that his wife was insane. The jury in the case failed to agree.

MINISTER TOOK WIFE ON SLUMMING TOURS

So Testifies at Inquiry Into Charge That Pittsburg Is a Wide-Open Town.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 26.—The Rev. T. E. Boord, pastor of the Wylie Avenue Baptist Church, was one of the witnesses heard in the impeachment trial of John M. Morin, director of the Department of Public Safety. A. Leo Well, president of the Voters' League, which is pressing against Morin charges that he allowed Pittsburg to be made a "wide-open" town, conducted the Rev. Mr. Boord's examination.

"Are you familiar with conditions in the disorderly house districts 'on the hill' and downtown?" the clergyman was asked.

"I have made trips through these districts once a week for two years," was the reply. "I visited the resorts, sat in their parlors, listened to the conversations and witnessed the actions of their inhabitants. Policemen have directed me to resorts, and did it as readily as they would point the way to the Union Station."

"Did you buy liquor in any of these places?"

"I never did, but liquor was sold in every place I visited and in plain view."

"What did you observe on your trips?"

"We saw half-dressed women, and men and boys of all ages. More than half the visitors were boys under 21."

"With whom did you go on these trips of investigation?"

"My wife was with me on some occasions. We are both students of sociology."

BEAUMONT IN NEW FEAT

Flies Across Paris in Hydro-Aeroplane, Following Seine.

PARIS, July 26.—"Andre Beaumont," whose proper name is Ensign Jean Louis Camille Conneau of the French navy, and who won the Paris-Rome-Turin aviation race, the European aviation circuit and the British aviation circuit, flew across Paris today in a hydro-aeroplane. He started from Juvisy-Sur-Orge to Bezons, following the course of the Seine.

"Beaumont" intends to fly to England tomorrow in the same machine, crossing the English channel from Boulogne and then mounting to the Thames from its mouth to London.

The Day in Congress

WASHINGTON, July 26.

SENATE.

Convened at noon.

Adopted joint resolution appropriating $30,000 more to fight the army worm in the South.

Democrats in caucus decided to support House excise tax bill as against the Borah income tax bill, introduced as an amendment.

Agreed to conference report on naval appropriation bill, with exception of battleship and torpedo boat provisions, which House insisted should be eliminated, and sent it back for further conference.

HOUSE.

Convened at noon.

Passed Bad Check; Sought by Police.

William Mauch, a jeweler at 1436 South Broadway, has asked the police to arrest a young man who gave him a bogus check for $18 a few days ago. The stranger purchased a $12 watch and received $6 in change when he presented the check. The paper was drawn on the Jefferson Bank and made payable to "John J. Brannon." It was returned by the bank as worthless.

Mrs. Powitzky Tries to Break Into Her Husband's Home

coll and he ruled that Mrs. Powitzky would have to get out. She consented to leave the house, but said she would keep on trying to get in.

Drove About House Two Hours.

"It was about 9 o'clock when Mrs. Powitzky left. Mrs. Max said she was afraid and asked me to stay on guard. Mrs. Powitzky and another woman returned in an automobile a short time later and for two hours they drove around the house."

Pearson says that he was again called to the Powitzky home Saturday night. A man on guard there introduced himself as Zeller. He said he had seen two women cross the street and thought they were hiding in the shrubbery in the garden.

Pearson, Patrolman Highley and Zeller searched the garden, turning electric flashlights into every shrub and bush. They did not find the women.

Patrolman Highley told a Post-Dispatch reporter the story of how Klein was injured in a fight in front of the home last Tuesday night.

"Andy Watson, the process server had Mark Zeller and Robert Zeller, on duty here as guards," said Highley. "He decided to discharge one of the Zellers, and to put Klein in his place.

"Watson came down here, bringing Klein with him. When he told the Zellers that he was going to let one of them out and put Klein to work there was a fight on the coping around the Powitzky residence. Klein was pushed over the coping and fell in front of a passing automobile."

Police reports at the time said nothing of the fight taking place at the Powitzky residence or being the indirect result of Mrs. Powitzky's siege of her former home. The Zellers were arrested and released on a common law bond.

Thursday night, when a reporter went to the Powitzky home, a tall, stout man sat in the moonlight on the front terrace.

"I'm the guard," he said.

Other forms moved about in the shadows of the garden.

The guard permitted the reporter to ring the doorbell. Dr. Max came downstairs.

"I don't know a thing about it," he said. "I wasn't here when Mrs. Powitzky got in. I wasn't here the other times she called. I don't know anything about these guards. I haven't anything to do with it. All I know is that I have leased the house from Mr. Powitzky, who is out of town."

Mrs. Powitzky With Sister.

Mrs. Powitzky is at the home of her sister, Mrs. Richard E. Dawson, at 3524 Sidney street. When a reporter attempted to see her there at 10 a. m. Friday he was told that she was still asleep. It was denied that she had lost rest in prosecuting the siege Thursday night.

"She didn't go up there last night," said Mrs. Dawson. "She has only tried to gain entrance to the house twice lately so far as I know. When she got in last Thursday night Dr. Max and his wife bluffed the police by showing what purported to be a lease on the house. Powitzky has no right to lease the house without his wife's consent as they own it jointly. Any lease without Anna's signature will not stand.

"I do not know anything as to my sister's intentions. She is being advised by her attorney, John S. Leahy. Naturally, she feels that she has as much right to occupy that home as her husband has. While her divorce suit was pending my sister received $200 a month alimony, by order of court. Since she lost the suit her husband has contributed nothing to her support."

Man Who Managed Patti Dies.

NEW YORK, July 26.—John Lavine, 64 years old, a pioneer theatrical manager, is dead of paralysis at his home here. One of his star accomplishments was as manager for Patti. When the singer first came to this country her performances were flat failures, and she had decided to give up her attempt at American conquests, when Lavine persuaded her to make a brief tour under his management.

FALLING CRANE KILLS ONE MAN AND INJURES ANOTHER

Laborer Who Loses Life at American Car Works There but Two Days.

One man was killed and another was dangerously injured when a traveling crane fell at the American Car Works, Mississippi River and St. George street, at 1:30 p. m. Friday.

The dead man, Carlo Bruno, a laborer who had begun work there only two days ago, was directly under the steel beam of the derrick when it fell.

The other man was rushed to the city hospital unconscious.

YOUTH ADMITS HE KILLED STEPMOTHER

Is Religious Fanatic and Had Just Been to Revival Service With Woman.

CHEROKEE, Ok., July 26.—Meek Ralstin Jr., 20 years old, today confessed to having murdered his stepmother, Mrs. Minnie Ralstin, near Helena, early Monday morning. The boy told the story of killing the woman before any complaint had been filed against him, though after he had been taken into custody.

It develops that the boy is a religious fanatic. He and his stepmother had attended a revival meeting on the night before the murder. The boy claims that his purpose was only to attack the woman. He first struck her on the head with a piece of gaspipe, then went into the yard, got an ax and struck her again. Fearing she might still be alive, the boy then got a razor and slashed her throat. Becoming frightened at the blood, he fled from the house, went to a neighbors and gave the alarm, declaring a burglar had killed the woman.

STEALS ICE, TONGS, THEN AN UMBRELLA

Chicago Man Tries to Protect Loot From Sun, Is Seen, Arrested and Sentenced.

CHICAGO, July 26.—William Riley stole a piece of ice from a wagon in North Clark street. The ice was cold and heavy, so he went back and took the ice tongs from the tail board of the wagon. The sun was hot and the ice melted rapidly.

Then Riley made a mistake. He took an umbrella from a stand in front of a furnishing store to protect the ice. He was seen to filch the umbrella. He related his story to Municipal Judge Caverly today and was sentenced to 30 days in the Bridewell.

"It would have been all right if I hadn't taken the umbrella," he murmured as he was led to jail.

THRILLING STORY OF ROSENTHAL KILLING TOLD BY CHAUFFEUR

Shapiro, Who Drove "Murder Car" Tells How He Picked Up Vallon, Rose and Others, of Murder Conferences and of Cordon of Gangsters About Hotel Metropole to Prevent Victim's Escape—Desperate Flight Described.

NEW YORK, July 26.—Frank Cirosici, known as "Dago Frank," with a record as a burglar, is the latest arrest for complicity in the murder of Herman Rosenthal. With him the police arrested Rosie Harris, also known as Regina Gordon, and Abraham Lewis, or "Fat Abe," as his intimates know him. The Harris woman and "Fat Abe" were held as material witnesses.

All three prisoners were so very much under the influence of opium that they could hardly keep awake while being questioned. The Harris woman alone was able to give a clear account of her movements on the night Rosenthal was murdered. If her story is true that Cirosici gave bond for her after her arrest, it establishes an alibi for him.

William Shapiro, driver of the gray murder car, has turned State's evidence, supplying District Attorney Whitman with sufficient evidence to procure the indictment for murder of four men, three of whom are under arrest now. Those in custody are: Jack Rose, Louis ("Bridgie") Webber and Harry Vallon. The fourth man, who is still at large, is Sam Schepps.

Lieutenant's Story Stuns Jurors.

Members of the grand jury sat stunned as they heard the testimony of Lieut. Costigan, who is known as the "Honest Cop," and is in charge of one gambling squad.

He is reported to have told the grand jury that gambling houses could not remain open without police protection and that the gambling squad took orders from Commissioner Waldo only, but later, in the presence of Waldo, he publicly denied that he had made such statements.

He testified he had secretly planned to raid Herman Rosenthal's house on April 17 on actual evidence he had gathered, but that his plans were found out, and on the day before Lieut. Charles A. Becker, in charge of another squad, had beaten him to the job, although he had absolutely no evidence against the place.

He was asked if he thought Becker raided to save himself from exposure that might have followed a raid by another, but he wouldn't answer this question.

District Attorney Whitman is highly elated over the result of the inquiry, his satisfaction being based upon these points in addition to Shapiro's confession and the testimony of Costigan:

The smashing of the alibis of Jack Rose, of "Bridgie" Webber and of Harry Vallon.

The recanting of John Reisler, who has turned from, "I-don't-remember," and "I'm-not-sure" testimony to the direct statement that he saw Webber running away from the Metropole when Rosenthal lay dead there.

The response in person of Lieut. Becker to the request that he come before the grand jury. He will be heard Tuesday.

The discovery that there was present in the car, both when it drove to the Metropole and when it fled from there, another man who is believed to have been the captain of the gang that killed the loose-tongued gambler.

The reports from William J. Burns that his force of detectives are making good time and results on their investigation.

Shapiro Tells Full Story in Session Lasting Three Hours

Shapiro underwent a three-hour session with District Attorney Whitman. The story he told follows:

On Monday night, July 15, he got the telephone call to go to Sharkey's about 10:30. He picked up at that place Jack Rose, Sam Schepps and Harry Vallon. He was told to drive up to "Bridgie" Webber's and he stopped there while all three of his fares went upstairs.

Then the same three re-entered the car and Shapiro drove them to 140th street, where Rose alighted alone. He was gone about 10 minutes and getting into the car ordered it to drive back to Webber's.

When the passengers alighted there, Rose directed him to pull across Forty-second street and point east, standing in the shadow of the Consolidated Gas Co.'s building there. Wonderingly Shapiro did so.

Shapiro watched the front entrance of Webber's, which was almost directly opposite his stand. While he was watching he saw "Bridgie," accompanied by Vallon, emerge and walk down Forty-second street.

"Bridgie" had been waiting for the car to come here. A "plant" had been made so that Herman Rosenthal would certainly be at the Metropole. To make sure he was waiting, "Bridgie" and Vallon went over to get the lay of the land. Vallon stayed on the outside, while "Bridgie" went past Rosenthal's table and exchanged greetings with him. Vallon, too, saw that their prey was about to enter the trap. He stopped "Chick" Beebe, a gambler, who was about to enter the dining room, and asked him to tell "Boob" Walker, who, with Jack Hickey, was sitting with Rosenthal, to come out into the hall, as he, Vallon, wanted to speak to him. Beebe wouldn't deliver the message. He suggested a bellboy, and Vallon used this messenger.

The District Attorney and the police have reason to believe that Vallon's desire to speak to Walker was for the purpose of telling him to be sure to keep Rosenthal at the table for a certain length of time and to be careful when he and Hickey walked out not to be with the "squealer."

Then Vallon ran back to the Webber poker club with the word that everything was all right. Webber remained in the Metropole for a few moments longer and then he, too, left, but he did not go so far but that he was in easy reach and probably in easy vision of the murder.

The club is a short block away from the Metropole. While Vallon went to the club to put his forces on the march, the police say Webber used the intervening 20 minutes to pass the word to those who had been selected for the job.

Hemmed in by Gang.

Three men, believed to be Harry Horowitz, alias "Gyp the Blood," Whitey Lewis and Lefty Louis or Dago Frank took the stand before the Metropole and others of the gang spread out in open order to act as skirmishers and to be sure that the job was not botched by the flight of Rosenthal.

Then the gray car was pressed into service again. And here Shapiro's story becomes as thrilling as a dime novel.

"I had been waiting for almost 25 minutes, I guess. I just happened to see out of the corner of my eye Jack Rose coming out of the entrance of 'Bridgie's' place, and behind him were three men.

"I started to open up and came across the street to pick them up, but Jack waved his hand at me, meaning to wait. So I stood still. I heard a lot of funny sounding things while Rose and the bunch were running around in the machine during the evening and I wondered to myself what they were up to. I thought it was some sort of a job, but, God knows, I never had the slightest idea it was going to be murder.

"Now Make Good" He Thinks He Heard Rose Say to One of Men

"Well, Rose and the others came over to where I was, and as they got in I noticed that Sam Schepp was one of them and Harry Vallon was the other. The third I couldn't make out at first because Rose kept him behind the others and held him back to whisper something in his ear. Then when this fellow put his foot on the step Rose patted him on the back and said: 'Now make good,' or something like that—I can't be sure just what it was.

"I felt queer because the three in the tonneau seemed sour and worried. I had a feeling that there was going to be some kind of dirty work. Vallon leaned forward and said, 'Drive over to the Metropole. Go up Sixth avenue and through Forty-third street and go slow.'

"I started up and went at slow speed up the street. Just as we turned into Forty-third I saw on the north side of the street, kind of keeping in the shadows, Jack Rose. His hat was pulled down on his head, and he seemed to be standing more than he was walking, but while I was watching him he was always edging down in the direction of the Metropole.

"Somebody in the back said: 'Look, there's Jack now,' and then somebody else said: 'Close your trap, you —— fool.'

"I looked back once and saw Rose half way down the block, standing in the shadows talking to a fellow. I'm not sure about this, but I think this was one of the gang that got into the car later.

"When I got in front of the Metropole somebody, I think it was Schepps this time, said: 'Don't stop here, drive. Drive down into Broadway and turn around and come back.' I took my orders and drove down to Broadway and turned around when I reached the end of the Times Building. Then I came back and was told to stop on the south side of the street, just a little below the main entrance of the Metropole.

"I did this. My car was pointing east. The three men with me got out. Vallon said: 'Wait, and don't move away from here.'

Was as Light as Day.

"I didn't feel any suspicions any more. Even though I felt there was a lot of funny business going on, this feeling all died away when I stopped in front of the Metropole. Who could believe that they would pull off anything in that kind of a place? Why, it was almost as light as day.

"I sort of dozed. Before my eyes closed I saw the men who got out of my car go toward the street, but I am not sure that I saw them go in. One man—the man whose name I don't know, but who I could recognize anytime or place I saw him—I'm sure he didn't go in. Vallon started to and I think he did.

"I heard the first shot and that made me wake up quick. I have heard them before and I know what they meant. I heard four or five so close together you couldn't be sure that they didn't come from one gun unless the noises were different. This didn't last a second. It seemed all like one thing—the shots, then four men running to the car calling: 'Go on, go on; throw on full speed,' or something like that.

"I was so taken by surprise that I started before I knew what I was doing. Some of them were hanging on the doors and standing on the steps when I opened her up. I hadn't but put the spark way over when one of the bunch shoved a gun, that he hadn't taken out of his hand as he was running from where the shooting had been, into the back of my neck and said: 'Speed her up—you and don't try any stalling or you'll get what that —— just got.'

"He batted me across the head as he said this, and I almost lost hold of the wheel. I begged him not to do it and told him that if he wanted to get away he'd better not do it again, meaning that he could put me out. He said, 'Oh, we'll get away all right, don't you worry.'

"I was shooting across Forty-third street when we struck Madison. Then it seemed to occur to somebody that we couldn't get by the Grand Central Building and so he said to go up Madison. I hit Madison going 35 miles an hour.

Wanted to Be Arrested.

"I never wanted to be arrested so much in my life before. I was scared to death. I honestly believed that they were going to 'croak' me next. I didn't know any of the gang and this made me all the more worried.

"I was running with all my headlights on full force, which is against the law, but I couldn't seem to make any of the policemen pay any attention to me. Why, even when I was on B. adway turning around to go back to the Metropole before the shooting my lights were burning so I was afraid I would be pinched. If they had arrested me I don't think they would have pulled the murder off.

"Well, when we got to Forty-ninth street we went over to Third avenue and up Third avenue to Fifty-fourth street. All the time I heard them talking together and now and then I could catch a word about Rose. I heard Becker's name mentioned several times. Everybody seemed to think they had done a job that would please the police and Becker a lot.

"They didn't seem to care what they said. I heard 'Bridgie's' name and Scheppa' and Vallon's and Sam Paul's. 'Wonder where Sam Paul was?' I heard one fellow say.

"All the time I was forcing the machine along and she was doing the best she could. We reached Forty-ninth street where they told me to stop. They all got out. One of the fellows—kind of stout, one with a lot of red hair—turned to me and pulling a gun out of his pocket that still smoked when he pulled it out, said:

"'You see this? Well, I'll use it on your if you don't go right hell straight down Second avenue.' I didn't lose any time. All the while I was afraid I'd get a bullet in my back.

Saw Rose Slipping Away.

"I forgot to say that when we raced through Forty-third street I thought I saw Jack Rose sneaking down toward Jack's in Sixth avenue headed away from Forty-third street."

Shapiro was thoroughly penitent. He maintained his innocence and protested constantly that he wanted to do all he could to help the District Attorney. Both Whitman and Assemblyman Levy, Shapiro's counsel, deny that any bargain was made with him. They say that he volunteered his testimony with no offer of reward or of fear of punishment.

SHE IS WED TO BOY WHOM SHE WAS EXPECTED TO KEEP SINGLE

MRS. HAROLD J. CONRAD.

WIFE RUNS AWAY WITH AUTO AND THREE SERVANTS

Husband Declares Woman Domestic Has Gained Domination Over Mistress.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26.—An amazing series of events in the household of Nicholas J. McNamara, a retired banker, was revealed here yesterday, when McNamara swore out warrants for one woman and two men, all former servants in his home at San Mateo, a suburb. The trio is charged with stealing McNamara's automobile.

The startling feature back of the charges is the assertion of McNamara that his wife is accompanying her former servants on a wild ride through Oregon, and that the only word he has received from Mrs. McNamara since July 22 has been her numerous lavish drafts on his bank account. Mrs. McNamara is reputed to be worth $600,000 in her own right.

Mrs. McNamara took their two small sons with her in the machine. Their daughter, Gladys, 18, returned from her school in Europe a few days ago, to find her father alone in the big San Mateo residence.

Last accounts of the fleeing party rumored that they had sold the motor car in Portland and bought tickets for Chicago, en route, McNamara believes, to Europe.

BEATEN BY ROBBERS, RESCUED, DISAPPEARS

Victim Tells Man Who Treats His Injuries He Was Left on Tracks to Be Killed.

Nase found the man Thursday at one side of the tracks where he had rolled while unconscious and took him to the saloon of Fred Parker at 7200 North Broadway. Nase and Parker washed and bandaged the man's wounds, a deep gash in the back of the head and split lips, and then gave him carfare and directed him to the North End Dispensary.

Later the police were notified, but a search of the dispensaries and hospitals failed to reveal any trace of the man.

The stranger had told Nase and Parker that he was lured to Luther Station by two men and there slugged and thrown across the railroad tracks to be run over by a train. His body rolled from the rails. He was robbed of $8.60, he said.

GIRL, 16, ELOPES WITH BOY SHE WAS TO "CURE" OF LOVE

Frances Obernier Wed to Harold Conrad, Who Had Been Infatuated With Another.

Harold J. Conrad, 20 years old, son of Herman J. Conrad, a department manager of the American Breweries, 2825 South Broadway, was in love with a young woman, several months ago, to whom his mother objected.

To break off the attachment the mother asked the aid of Mrs. R. A. Obernier, a neighbor. Mrs. Obernier introduced her daughter, Frances, 16 years old, to Harold by way of distraction.

Harold and Miss Frances eloped to Clayton Thursday afternoon and were married, he giving his age as 21 and she saying she was 18. Harold's mother said Friday his family would take immediate steps to have the marriage annulled.

Youth Doesn't Tell Mother.

Harold's mother did not know of the wedding until told of it at 9 a. m. Friday by a Post-Dispatch reporter. After the marriage the bridegroom returned to his parents' home and spent the night, while the bride returned to her home. When Harold left home to go to work as usual in the morning he forgot to say anything about the marriage to his mother.

The Conrads and the Oberniers live within a few blocks of each other at Webster Groves. The elopement was arranged easily. The pair simply took a trolley car to Clayton, got their license and hunted up Justice of the Peace Werremeyer, who married them.

"I sure have had a hot time getting this thing arranged," the bridegroom said to a Post-Dispatch reporter a few minutes after the ceremony. "Why, do you know I once had to take a shot at my girl's uncle."

Harold refused to explain the circumstances under which he "took a shot" at the uncle.

"I can't believe this marriage has taken place," Mrs. Conrad said when informed of it. "If it did we shall certainly not rest until it is set aside. The two are under age. Harold will not be 21 until Feb. 15, 1913, while the girl is a mere child. She is only 16 years old.

"I am greatly distressed over this. I am afraid it will ruin my son's career. We took him out of Staunton Military Academy in Virginia and entered him in the medical department of St. Louis University last year. We had great hopes of him, as he appeared to take great interest in his studies.

Some time ago Harold got a lot of foolishness in his head about a girl named Venus Spanker. He said he was very much in love with her. I was afraid to let the affair go any further and got Mrs. Obernier to agree to help me out.

"She invited Harold to her home frequently and he met her daughter Frances. We thought, maybe, an acquaintance with Frances would divert his attention from the other girl and felt sure his love for Miss Spanker needed only an interruption to be cured. Now, it seems, he has married Frances.

"I didn't even know he was in love with her. It seems mighty funny to me. I can't understand it."

Mrs. Obernier, who is the wife of a retired banker, refused to make a statement about her daughter's marriage.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 26.—Mrs. Florence E. Kirkpatrick, formerly of Kansas City, was the central figure in a unique argument advanced by Col. James Hamilton Lewis in Judge William E. Dever's branch of the Superior Court today. Mrs. Kirkpatrick was seeking a court order for alimony of $500 a month from her husband, Walter E. Kirkpatrick. To this end, Col. Lewis advanced Mrs. Kirkpatrick's beauty as a reason for large alimony.

"When Kirkpatrick married," said Col. Lewis, "he knew that his wife was reputed a beauty and had to be maintained accordingly, consistent with his income and social standing.

"Kirkpatrick ought to be compelled to continue to support his wife in the style to which she was accustomed, which included jewels, silks, an automobile and a beautiful home. Beauty unadorned soon becomes tiresome and uninteresting."

Judge Dever said he realized that to a certain extent luxuries became necessities in the case of Mrs. Kirkpatrick, but he denied her right to name the amount her husband should be compelled to pay.

He entered an order allowing Mrs. Kirkpatrick the use of her residence, temporary alimony of $250 in cash and also the $150 a month received as rent from the Kirkpatrick home in Kansas City.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 26.—A gang of bandits today drove up in an automobile before a local tire manufacturing shop in the downtown district, smashed a big plate glass window, and stole more than $1000 worth of automobile tires.

Although there were many men on the streets near, the bandits took no precautions against making a noise in breaking the window.

FIVE DEAD, THREE ARE OVERCOME BY ONE DAY'S HEAT

Stone Quarry Foreman's Body Found After All-Day Search.

Five deaths and three prostrations was Thursday's heat record in St. Louis.

Patrick Gilbane, 41 years old, 1505 Tamm, foreman in a stone quarry, was found dead in a field back of his home Thursday afternoon, after an all-day search. He had been ill for a long time and had complained of being unable to sleep, leaving the house at 1 a. m. Thursday, saying he was going out for a breath of fresh air.

Charles Offermann, 53 years old, 1316 Monroe, laborer, died after being discovered unconscious in his chair at a window of his home. He was being treated for heart trouble.

Paul Petzold, 54 years old, rooming at 4 South Eighth street, a stationary fireman, was found unconscious in his bed and died soon after. He had been complaining of the heat.

Philip Carraher, 30 years old, 732 South Second, laborer, quit work on account of the heat, became unconscious, was sent to the city dispensary and was dead when taken out of the ambulance.

Conrad Hoffman, 35 years old, 1619 Allen, laborer at the National Stock Yards, East St. Louis, was overcome while at work and died an hour later.

William Mund, 42 years old, 2913A Madison, a coal miner, was overcome by heat and taken to the city hospital, where his condition was pronounced serious.

MAN IDENTIFIED BY STOLEN TROUSERS

Admits Pawning Watch and Fob but Says Wife Found Them.

Norman E. Birch of Kinloch Park donned a pair of trousers when he left home Thursday which caused his arrest on a charge of burglary. He admitted to detectives that the trousers belonged to Edward Stout, whose residence at 1112 Baron avenue, Louisville, Ky., was ransacked the early part of last month.

A bulletined description of a watch and fob stolen from the Stout residence was given the pawnshop detectives and several days ago Detective Byrnes recovered the articles in a Franklin avenue pawnshop. He obtained a description of the man who pawned them.

Detectives recognized Birch when they saw him in Wellston Thursday by the trousers he wore. The trousers also had been described in the bulletin sent here from Louisville.

Birch, who is 30 years old, and has a wife and two children, admitted he brought the trousers, watch and fob here when he moved from Louisville in June, but denied having robbed the Stout home. He said his wife found the things on a lot near their home.

ARMY OF WORKERS BUSY WITH SHOWS TO SAVE BABIES

CONTRIBUTIONS.

Previously acknowledged.... $1972 07
Children's entertainment, 5070 Delmar..... 16 55
Lemonade sales by children in Windermere place..... 5 50

Preparations are under way to insure one of the biggest successes of the season for the great two-nights' performance kindly tendered by the management of the Favorite Summer Theater, Cherokee and Iowa, next Monday and Tuesday evenings, for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund.

"A Timely Fortune," a clever and tuneful play, will be presented by the Bohres Musical Comedy Company, also a bright vaudeville bill and interesting motion pictures. The cast of the play is: Ambrosia Merrifield, Edith Wathem; Daisy, Katie Tucker; Smiley Spooner, Bert Cushman; Reuben Merrifield, Fred W. Wear; Jack Dauber, Andy Breen; Dairymaids, Kitty Esher, Dolly Esher, Rose O'Reilly, Sadie McIntyre, Amanda Drere and Lottie Saetelle.

The play's period is the present and its scene is laid on Reuben Marrifield's farm, a few miles from Boston. Among the musical numbers are the "Barn Yard Rag," by the Dairy Maids; "Love," by Ambrocia and the company; "A Village Maid," by Daisy and chorus; "Save the Babies," by Jack Dauber and Rose O'Reilly; "The Old Oak Tree," by Daisy, Jack and the Esher sisters; "Creatore," by Jack and the company, and the grand finale by the entire company. As a special vaudeville feature, Bird and Kema will present their original comedy entitled "The Wise Country Boy."

One of the most brilliant performances of the Chautauqua season will be the cantata entitled "The Merry Milk Maids," which will be presented on Thursday evening, Aug. 1, for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund. There will be a company of 65, including a chorus of 50, in this musical play depicting country life.

The role of Dorothy, the heroine, will be taken by Miss Blanche Herrick of St. Louis, and the play's story concerns her romance with young Farmer Jim, played by J. Guy Heslett of Mount Carmel. Other leading roles are those of the Commodore, played by Ralph Becker of St. Louis; the Queen, played by Miss Grace McEvors of St. Louis; Marjorie, by Miss Ruth Behymer of Lebanon; Ruth, by Miss Bernice Sayer of Lebanon; Monica, by Miss Helen Horner of Lebanon; the Doctor, by Raymond Behymer of Lebanon; Juanita, by Miss Mildred Haynes of East St. oLuis; the Captain, by Ray Grote of St. Louis; the Jolly Farmer, by Karl Ponder of Webster Groves, and the Judge, by Louis Templeman of St. Louis.

The pupils of Genevieve Fender gave a very pleasing entertainment for the benefit of the pure milk fund at the Olive Theater last Monday night, realizing net proceeds amounting to $35.95, the sale of seats having amounted to $108, and the expenses to $72.05. Little Evelyne Schnepf and Marion Young were awarded gold medals for having sold the greatest number of tickets. The program was brightly presented, comprising recitations, monologues, sketches, singing and dancing, and the youthful performers revealed great cleverness in their work. Mrs. Fender wishes to return thanks to Grimm & Gorly, florists, for floral decorations.

The Sunshine Girls presented a fairy play entitled "Little Bridget" at the United Jewish Educational and Charitable Association Building last Sunday evening for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund, realizing $30 with which to help save the tenement babies. The little play was very prettily performed, and at its close the young players presented a vanity bag to Miss Sarah Abramson, who directed their work, as a token of their appreciation.

Five little girls presented a musical play entitled "School Days" at 1440 Burd avenue last Monday evening, raising $8 for the Pure Milk Fund. The cast was: Hazel Maybury, Maggie Hausenpeffer; Lourine Stolberg, The Teacher; Bessie Stolberg, Squiggins; Elizabeth Lehnemann, Annie Sauerkraut, and Sadie Margulis, Sally Snodgrass.

Seven little girls in Windermere place have raised $5.50 for the Pure Milk Fund by selling lemonade in the vicinity of their homes. Their names are Violet Cunliff, Catherine Hafner, Lucile Thies, Harriet Atkins, Eleanor Atkins, Marian Wilson and Julia Hafner.

Hydroplanes for Warships.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—Each battleship of the navy will be equipped with a speedy hydroplane within the next year, if the latest plan of the department materializes. It is proposed to have the machines attain a speed in the air of not less than 50 miles an hour carrying two passengers.

LIBRARY WANTS YOUR OLD BOOKS AND MAGAZINES

Bostwick's Report Says Pamphlets and Other "Trash" Often Are of Value to Public.

How to get back the "lunch hour crowd," lost by the removal of the Public Library to the new building at Thirteenth and Olive streets, is a problem Librarian Bostwick is trying to solve, and he discusses it in the annual report of the St. Louis Public Library. Advance sheets of the report have just been issued.

The report is the first to be issued since the removal to the new building, and it is also the first that has been prepared with a view to interesting the reader.

The usual collection of statistics, lists of names and matter of formal record have been put in a small pamphlet by themselves, which those can have who especially desire it. Btu the regular report for distribution to the public is in the form of a magazine article, with halftone illustrations and divided into sections.

Loss 3000 to 5000 a Month.

"Removal of the library five blocks further from the business center of the city has also lost us the lunch-hour crowd. In the former quarters the open shelf department was peculiarly popular with office and shop employes who found that they could, in their limited lunch hour, quickly and easily make their own selection with little expenditure of time or risk of tardiness. More than half the entire day's issue took place during the two hours of noon. These conditions no longer prevail. Downtown employes can not reach the new builing within the time allowed them. It is not particularly convenient for shoppers and the nearest transfer point is three blocks away. In an effort to keep our noon hour patrons we advertised both before and after moving that books could be ordered by telephone and called for at the reader's convenience. A type-written notice to this effect was placed in every book issued in the noon hours, but although many persons inquired about it, few have availed themselves of the privilege. The only remedy appears to be a down town deposit station. Loss from this cause is of course a loss to the library as a whole, amounting to from 3000 to 5000 issues monthly."

Another thing the librarian is trying to do is to get St. Louis people in the habit of giving their last month's magazines and their spare works of fiction to the library. He writes:

"It is doubtful if our friends realize how much of the book fund now necessarily devoted to the purchase of ephemeral current literature might be released for other use of they would turn over to us books of this description as soon as they have finished with them. Thousands of current novels are read and tossed aside by private owners, while, at the same moment, thousands of dollars are being locked up in duplicate copies of the same books at the library. A telephone message will bring our expressman at a day's notice."

In asking that back numbers of magazines, pamphlets, reports and old books of all kinds be given to the library, the writer says: "We do not ask that the useful be separated from the useless. We are glad to do that work at the library for the sake of what it will bring us, and often that which the owner considers trash is of value to the library."

That the parks are not the only place where the flirting and spooning of young persons creates a problem is shown by a paragraph under the head of "Library Discipline." This says:

"The library is occasionally used as a meeting place by older boys and girls who have no particular interest in books Here is an opportunity to arouse such interest and to turn an illegitimate use of the library into a proper one. We are annoyed from time to time in these ways, but sporadically rather than permanently."

60-Mile-an-Hour Train Derailed.

GALENA, Ill., July 26.—Running 60 miles an hour, passenger train No. 5 of the Illinois Central was wrecked near Apple River, 12 miles east of here, this morning, by a broken rail. The entire train was derailed but the coaches remained upright and no one was hurt.

HANDS CRACKING AND BLEEDING

With Eczema. Watery Blisters. Disfigured and Sore. Could Not Put Them in Water. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

St. Clair, Mo.—"My trouble began about fifteen years ago. It was what some claimed eczema. The form the disease worked under was a breaking out with watery blisters on my hands which would then dry and scale, and then would follow the trouble of cracking and bleeding, also itching and hurting. My hands were disfigured at the time, and sore. The trouble was very annoying, and disturbed my sleep. This last February it was ever so much worse than before. I did not do all my work on account of the condition of my hands. I could not put them in water without making them worse. I tried a lot of home remedies, also salves and liniments that claimed to be a cure for the trouble, but I did not obtain a cure.

"At last I saw the advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I sent for a sample. I thought they would cure, so I sent for a fifty-cent box of Cuticura Ointment and some Cuticura Soap. A doctor advised me to keep ahead with the Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they cured me completely. No trace of the trouble remains." (Signed) Mrs. Mary Taylor, Mar. 29, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

GIRL OF 15 TAKES $23

The disappearance of $23 from the room of Mrs. Henrietta Meyers, 1334 Chouteau avenue, was solved Thursday when policemen arrested Helen Barthels, 15 years old, of the same address. Helen showed the officers where she had hidden $21 in a clothes closet and said she spent the remaining $2 at a summer garden.

She was turned over to her mother, who was instructed to produce her later in the Juvenile Court.

REASSIGNMENT OF UNION ELECTRIC CO. STOCK IS ORDERED

U. S. Appellate Judges Decree Received Here Declares Merger Fraud on Minority Stockholders.

CASE IN COURT 9 YEARS

Missouri-Edison Shareowners Declared Entitled to 43 Per Cent Instead of 20 Per Cent.

The majority stockholders of the old Missouri-Edison Electric Co., in voting to consolidate with the Union Electric Co. on a basis which gave the Missouri-Edison only 20 per cent of the new company, did what was "grossly unjust" and "a fraud on the minority stockholders," according to the decree of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, handed down in St. Paul. A copy of the decree, received at the office of the United States Circuit Clerk in St. Louis was made public Friday.

Instead of 20 per cent, the Missouri-Edison should have received 43 per cent of the whole, says the Court, which directs that reassignment of stock be made on that basis.

3000 Shares in Suit.

About 3000 shares of Missouri-Edison preferred stock were represented in the suit of the minority stockholders, which was was brought by Attorneys Robert & Robert and W. B. and Ford W. Thompson. The case has been before the courts nine years, and was decided against the minority stockholders twice in the United States Court in St. Louis before the final decree in their favor by the Appellate Court.

The total issue of Missouri-Edison preferred stock was 20,000 shares, and the preferred stock was entitled, the lawyers estimate, to two-thirds of the Missouri-Edison's entire share in the consolidation.

The Union Electric's stock issue was $10,000,000, or 100,000 shares, and of this issue 25,000 shares were put into the treasury and 75,000 distributed. The Missouri-Edison's share of this stock, on a 20-per-cent basis, was 15,000 shares, the part going to the preferred stockholders was 10,000 shares and the part falling proportionately to the minority stockholders in the present suit was about 1500 shares.

Distribution on New Basis.

On a basis of 43 per cent, the Missouri-Edison's share of the Union Electric stock issue would have been 32,250 shares, the part going to the preferred stockholders would have been 21,500 shares and the proportion allotted to Jones, Ruf and the other plaintiffs would have been 3225 shares.

The difference between the 3225 shares which they should have received and the 1500 shares which they received, with interest, is the amount won by the St. Louisans' suit. The item of interest will be a big one, owing to the time the suit has been in progress. At 6 per cent a year, it would amount to more than an additional 50 per cent.

Directions to Court Here.

In its decree, the Appellate Court directs the court in St. Louis to "find the value of the stock of the appellants on that basis," (43 per cent) "and to enter a decree to rehabilitate the Missouri-Edison company, or that the appellants have a lien on the stock of the Union company for the value of their stock and interest thereon from the date of the consolidation, and the costs of this suit * * * unless the defendants shall pay to the appellants the said value of their stock and interest thereon from the date of the consolidation."

In case a cash settlement is made, the decree says, the value of the Union Electric stock must be figured on the basis of its value immediately after the consolidation.

Majority Did Not Suffer.

The consolidation was brought about after the Union Electric Co. had acquired a majority of the Missouri-Edison stock. The majority stockholders of the Missouri-Edison then voted to merge that company with the Union Electric on the 20-per-cent basis. This was profitable to the majority, who made back as Union Electric stockholders what they lost as Missouri-Edison stockholders, but it left the minority with less than one-half what they should have received for their holdings.

The directors named as defendants in the suit included William F. Nolker, August Gehner, C. H. Huttig, Herman C. Stifel, C. Marquard Forster, Eugene H. Benoist, Philip Stock, Henry Semple Ames and William D. Orthwein.

Taxi Driver Says Woman and 1 Man Didn't Touch Him.

Friends of Mrs. Estelle McAllister, John Carroll and Clarence Strider, accused of robbing Walter L. Harrison, a taxicab driver, on Olive street road, the night of July 14, are trying to arrange bond for them. Carroll's bail has been fixed at $1500 and that of the other two at $1000 each.

At the preliminary hearing before Justice Werremeyer in Clayton Wednesday, Harrison testified that Carroll attacked him. He said neither Strider nor Mrs. McAllister laid hands upon him but that they sat in the rear seat of the taxicab.

Harrison also testified that before he lost consciousness after being choked with a rope he struck at Carroll with a hammer and thinks he hit him.

The Red Lane

By Holman Day

Author of "King Spruce," "The Ramrodders," etc.

A RATTLING good story of love and adventure, with its setting near the land of Evangeline. The Canadian border, especially that part of it lying between Maine and New Brunswick, has been the scene of many strange adventures in which smuggling and feudal quarrels and unchronicled battles for forest rights have played a constant part. Mr. Day's hero becomes an active figure in these strange and turbulent scenes. His heroine, a most appealing type, is Evangeline Beaulieu, of the new Arcadia. While the story makes the reader feel the strenuousness of competition and the actual shock of man against man in almost primitive warfare, it nevertheless pictures the development of an absorbing love story, and it is peculiarly rich in quaint types which will live in the reader's memory.

Oscar Reese, 18 years old, who, after serving several years in the Industrial School at Boonville for a boyhood offense, discovered his parents had died while he was a prisoner, received four offers of employment Thursday night. Reese had placed himself in the custody of Night Chief of Police Gilliaspy.

Col. Martin Collins of the Graham Paper Co. sent word to police headquarters that he would put Reese to work at once. Other offers were made by the Thompson Restaurant Co., the American Refrigerator Car Co. and a fourth person, whose identity the police would not reveal. The officials of the Industrial School also told the police they would take care of Reese until he finds suitable work. The police will select work for the youth.

Colorado

If You've Lost Your Punch

You'll find it again as soon as you strike the Rockies. The mountain air will fill you with fresh strength and new vitality. Of course you are fagged! Why man alive, you wouldn't treat a dray horse or a machine as cruelly as you've driven yourself these past twelve months. And now with your last shreds of energy oozing out under this stifling summer heat, no wonder you feel only half a man. Take a rest, but go where you can get it. Colorado is just a night away. Pack your grip, take your golf clubs and retire for repairs.

Any way of going to Colorado is a good way, because it gets you to Colorado. But the best road is the Rock Island and the best train is

The Colorado Flyer

—every morning from St. Louis to Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo—

A splendidly appointed train which provides every travel comfort. Luxurious electric-lighted Pullman, dining and observation cars, by the picturesque line through Kansas City. Every mile of the journey is one of real enjoyment.

The Rocky Mountain Limited—every morning from Chicago—and other fast daily trains from St. Louis, Chicago, Omaha, Kansas City, St. Joseph and Memphis—for Colorado, Yellowstone Park and the Pacific Coast. Boils, Rashes, Pimples, Etc.

When the blood becomes infected with any unhealthy humor the effect is shown by boils, pimples, and rashes or eruptions on the skin. Humors get into the blood usually because of an inactive condition of the eliminative members. Thus unhealthy matter is left in the system to sour and ferment and be absorbed into the circulation. Remove these humors and no skin trouble can exist, because its very source is then destroyed. Boils, rashes, pimples etc. can never be cured through the application of external medicines, because such treatment can have no possible effect on the blood; the most to be obtained from such measures is temporary relief. S. S. S. CURES all skin affections because it purifies the blood. It goes down into the circulation and cleanses it of every particle of unhealthy matter. Then the blood exercises its normal function of supplying nourishment to the cuticle instead of irritating it with a fiery humor. If you have any skin trouble you could not do better than purify your blood with S. S. S. It does not "patch up;" it cures. Book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice free.

CHOP IN COTTON AND SUGAR DUTY TO FOLLOW WOOL

Democrats, Encouraged by One Senate Victory, Seek More Reductions.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—Through the combination of the Democrats and 10 progressive Republicans, the Senate passed the La Follette wool bill by a vote of 47 to 20, at a moment when the Republican leaders had gained what they regarded as a victory, when a substitute measure offered by Senator Penrose was passed in the committee of the whole. The La Follette bill now goes to the House as a substitute for the measure passed by that body.

The Progressives who joined with the Democrats in adopting the La Follette substitute were Borah, Bristow, Clapp, Crawford, Cummins, Gronna, Kenyon, La Follette, Poindexter and Works.

The essential points of the La Follette bill and the House bill are as follows:

Raw wool: La Follette bill 10 to 35 per cent; House bill, 20 per cent.

Wool waste and rags: La Follette bill 25 to 30 per cent; House bill 20 per cent.

Combed wool or tops: La Follette bill 40 per cent; House bill 25 per cent.

Yarns: La Follette bill 45 per cent; House bill 30 per cent.

Cloths, ready-made clothing, knit fabrics and women's dress goods: La Follette bill 55 per cent; House bill 35 to 50 per cent.

Carpets: La Follette bill 35 per cent; House bill 25 to 50 per cent.

Early Compromise Expected.

Majority Leader Oscar W. Underwood of the House thinks the two branches of Congress can agree, and there would be little difficulty in reaching a compromise. In this case a bill almost identical with the one President Taft vetoed on Aug. 17, 1911, probably will go to the White House within a few weeks.

The former bill was vetoed on the ground that the Tariff Board had not reported on its investigation of Schedule "K." Leaders of both Houses say the La Follette bill follows the conclusions of the board closely.

Chairman Underwood also sees a chance for the cotton revision at this session of Congress.

"I am going to call the Ways and Means Committee together to consider the advisability of calling up our cotton bill," he said. "Now that the Senate has shown a disposition to enact some legislation giving the people tariff relief, we might as well take up cotton."

Excise Bill Favored.

The income tax had many supporters in the caucus, among Democrats who did not want to be compelled to vote against a principle they indorsed. In the hope, however, that the progressives could again be held in line and the excise bill passed, it was decided to vote against any amendments to the measure.

Of greater significance, however, was a tentative understanding reached as to the course to be pursued tomorrow in the sugar tariff fight. Democratic leaders believe they will be able, with the aid of the progressives, to pass a compromise sugar tariff bill, probably that written by Senator Bristow, taking from 40 to 50 cents per 100 pounds off the present duty of $1.90 on sugar.

See Colorado This Summer

What pictures the sonorous Spanish word brings to the imagination! The lofty ranges from whose summits flow the rivers that reach three oceans and traverse almost two-thirds of the continent. The deep-cut canons, in whose granite depths the shrubs and flowers make unexpected bowers of beauty. The shouldering summits and grassy plateaus in whose evergreen forests roam the deer and elk, the bear and puma, the rabbits and grouse in almost the profusion of a primeval wilderness. The crystal rivers, in whose pellucid pools the trout are waiting to seize the feathered lure. The great cities and resorts, where every comfort and enjoyment of civilization is added to the delights of the scenery and the climate.

And all this is so close, so easy to reach, so easy to enjoy via the scenic way, the comfortable way—

The progressive candidate for business honors

Whatever may be their divergent political views, the advertisers of St. Louis have unanimously agreed that the progressive candidate for business honors is the POST-DISPATCH.

Here is the verdict of the convention of advertisers of this country that have been in session daily for the past six months of this year ending July 1st, as expressed in the columns of legitimate advertising of the five daily newspapers of St. Lous for this period:

|---|---|
| Post-Dispatch | 20,014 columns |
| Globe-Democrat | 11,796 columns |
| Republic | 7,639 columns |
| Times | 7,601 columns |
| Star | 3,069 columns |

It will be observed from the above that the POST-DISPATCH carried two-thirds of the number of columns of paid advertising carried by all of its competitors, the Globe-Democrat, Republic, Times and Star added together.

It will also be observed that it beat its two nearest competitors, the Globe-Democrat and Republic added together, 579 columns.

That it carried nearly double the number of columns carried by the Times and Star, the two other evening papers, combined.

No one paper in St. Louis is near enough in the volume of legitimate business carried, to make a reasonable comparative showing, so we must add two or three of them together.

That "worth-while gilt edged circulation" that spreads out like a canopy over St. Louis and its suburbs, where people are enjoying good incomes, is of course responsible for this overwhelming preference for the POST-DISPATCH over all its competitors.

It is the one paper in every home.

St. Louis' ONE BIG newspaper.

JOHN D. BUYS TO KEEP AWAY STORES

Spends $200,000 a Month to Prevent Business Encroachment on Residence District.

NEW YORK, July 26.—John D. Rockefeller is making determined efforts to stop the advance of business into the private residence district where his city home is. For a long time retail trade has been moving slowly up Fifty-fourth street toward the Rockefeller home, but the Rockefeller agents have been watching the movement and in the last few months have been bidding in every parcel that was offered for sale, at a price higher than the business buyer cared to pay.

Rockefeller's most recent purchase in this district, closed this week, is that of a four-story brown stone mansion just west of his home. This is his fifth investment near the houses of himself and son. Rockefeller's brokers are spending at the present rate about $200,000 a month to accomplish the oil man's purpose.

Believes This Will "Cure Lung Troubles"

Consumption is a disease which should not be trifled with. If the trouble is present, don't waste time in argument.

If a so-called "cold" has long persisted; if a cough is present that keeps you anxious; or any of the symptoms exist such as fever or night sweats, weakness and loss of appetite, and perhaps some raising of mucus—do the sensible thing: take Eckman's Alterative, as Mr. Betterworth did.

Bowling Green, Ky., R. No. 4.

"Gentlemen—In 1908 I had a severe cough for six months. I tried all the medicine that my friends and doctors recommended to me, but no results came for the better. At last I tried your medicine. In one week's time there was quite an improvement in my condition, and after I had taken several bottles I felt as well as ever in my life. I will gladly write personally to any party wanting information in regard to your wonderful medicine." (Signed Affidavit.)

A. C. BETTERSWORTH.

Eckman's Alterative is effective in Bronchitis, Asthma, Hay Fever, Throat and Lung Troubles, and in upbuilding the system. Does not contain poisons, opiates or habit-forming drugs. For sale by Raboteau Drug Co., Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., Judge & Dolph Drug Co. and other leading druggists. Ask for booklet telling of recoveries and write to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for additional evidence.

I Asked a College Professor

"Is it not a fact that most college professors are one-sided individuals, developed along their particular line only?"

After hesitation, he replied, "Unfortunately, your question is largely true. Any man who makes a specialty of one thing runs that risk, as I have found from personal experience. In my case and in that of several of my colleagues, however, we have found that, through ownership of the Kimball Player-Piano, we have been able to develop one of the most essential of our otherwise dormant faculties—the musical, or emotional, side.

"I consider music the greatest of all arts and one of the most broadening influences, etc., etc.

The Kimball Player-Piano has the essentials necessary to reproduce hand-played music.

This instrument plays the full scale, 88 notes—plays any make of 88-note roll. It has a full, round, rich, mellow, singing tone—selected materials, best workmanship, roll-guiding device, Acmelodic soloist and ten exclusive improvements.

Free music roll library membership included.

BRINGS SUIT TO REGAIN HOUSE SHE GAVE DAUGHTER

Mrs. Mary Kelly Says She Thought When She Transferred Property She Could Get It Back.

A house divided against itself is the home of Mrs. Mary Kelly and her daughter, Jennie Agnes Kelly, at 7020 Berthold avenue. The bitter strife between mother and daughter has been revealed by a suit filed by Mrs. Kelly, demanding that Miss Kelly transfer to her property at 3400 Abner place, which a few months ago was transferred by the mother to the daughter.

When a Post-Dispatch reporter called at the Berthold avenue house Friday Mrs. Kelly upbraided her daughter angrily for having refused to give up the property quietly, without the necessity of a suit. The young woman listened in silence, but showeu determination not to yield.

Mother and Daughter Together.

Eating at the same table three times a day, mother and daughter have gone over the matter repeatedly, the mother demanding that the daughter sign the deed, and the young woman refusing to do so. Fred Kelly, son and brother, has tried to keep aloof from the controversy.

Mrs. Kelly deeded the property to her daughter at a time when, she says, she feared she would otherwise be induced to transfer it to two sons, who were in business in Chicago.

Miss Kelly said she retained title to the Abner place property because it was all the realty the family had left, except the Berthold avenue home, and because she thought herself better able to protect the property than her mother.

Mother Gets Rent, Pays Bills.

She said her mother received the rent and paid the bills charged against the property, and that for all present purposes the property had not passed out of the mother's hands.

Paul Dillon is the mother's attorney. Irregularity in the first transfer is alleged, Mrs. Kelly saying she understood there was a provision for a transfer of the property back to her, when, in fact, there was no such clause.

CANDIDATE FOR HERO MEDAL KILLS SELF

Lieut. Charles Klein of the Fire Department Takes Carbolic Acid—In Tunnel Rescue.

Lieut. Charles L. Klein of Fire Engine Co. No. 38, a candidate for a Carnegie medal for bravery, killed himself in the home of his mother at 3425A Giles avenue, Thursday afternoon, by drinking carbolic acid.

None of his relatives or friends could assign a motive for the act further than that Klein had been a victim of melancholia, lately, from loneliness over the absence of his mother, Mrs. Augusta Klein, who is visiting in Pennsylvania. His sister, Mrs. Marie Hale, 1920 Belt avenue, her 7-year-old daughter, Claudia, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank Klein of 5024A Garfield avenue, were cleaning the house when Klein ended his life. Before drinking the acid Klein gave a ring to his niece, Claudia, saying:

"Take this to remember me. I cannot stand it without mother."

Klein was made a lieutenant in the Fire Department last March for bravery. He was nominated for a Carnegie medal last January when he went into the tunnel at Washington avenue and Third street and carried a negro who had fallen from a train and whose legs were cut off, up a ladder barely in time to escape with his life before another train entered the tunnel.

Moonlight Excursion Sticks.

CLEVELAND, O., July 26.—The steamer Eastland, with several hundred passengers aboard, struck on the breakwater shortly after midnight when returning from a "three-hours' "moonlight ride." Four tugs took off the passengers.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

MISTOOK COURT FOR A POKER GAME

Veteran Secret Service Man Kept His Hat on and Will Not Apologize.

NEW ORLEANS, July 26.—Because Patrick Looby, veteran secret service agent of the United States Government, refused to apologize for remarks he made several days ago, about United States Commissioner Arthur H. Browne, the latter yesterday afternoon, refused to permit Looby to testify in his court and adjourned indefinitely a hearing in a counterfeit case.

The breach between the two officials which threatens to obstruct the trial temporarily is the result of Looby's failure several days ago to remove his hat when he appeared before the Commissioner.

Later Looby stated openly that he did not remove his hat on entering Judge Browne's court because he thought a poker game was in progress. This incensed the Commissioner and he issued the edict concerning Looby's testimony.

WOMAN RIDES 102 MILES

Exceeds Army Test and Does It in 14 Hours, Not 3 Days.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26.—Eclipsing the test complained of by army officers, who are required to ride 90 miles in three days, Miss Marion Crocker, who was one of last season's most admired debutantes, established a new record for women by riding 102 miles in 14 hours.

I did not feel any great fatigue from the ride and am unable to understand why any army officer, used to the saddle, should regard a 90-mile jaunt as a hardship," said Miss Crocker.

BABY FED ON WHISKY WEIGHS 77 POUNDS

Missouri Child Is 15 Months Old and Weighed Only 3 Pounds at Birth.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., July 26.—What is believed to be the largest baby in the world was seen here this morning when Jessie Fox and wife were waiting to go to Joplin, where they expect to reside. The baby is 15 months old and weighs 77 pounds. It is well proportioned and can wear a No. 6 hat and a No. 8 woman's glove.

The parents say they have fed it diluted whisky since it was two weeks old. It consumes a wine glass of whisky daily besides any other food it wants.

The mother is 5 feet 3 inches in height and weighs 102 pounds. The father is a farmer, 6 feet 2 inches in height and weighs 200 pounds. The child weighed three pounds at birth.

St. Louis Women Defend Bachelor Girls Whom Pastor Decries as Waste Material

"TOO BUSY TO GO TO BARREN ISLAND," ONE DECLARES

SAME VIEWS ELSEWHERE

Critic, Undaunted, Suggests Rich Woman Work and Earn Her Own Living.

St. Louis unmarried women are joining their bachelor sisters in all parts of the country in denouncing the Rev. Elmer V. Huffner of Grand Junction, Colo., who says old maids, as a menace to society, should be sent off to some desert island. They agree with Miss Helen Gould who, in a spirited answer to Huffner, defends old maids and says they play an important part in the world's advancement.

Miss Florence Hayward of 4321 Maryland avenue, traveler and journalist, said: "I do not consider that this minister's slurs are worth an answer. Can any sane person believe that Queen Elisabeth, St. Teresa and Joan of Arc were waste products? Are the Sisters of Charity and the Deaconesses of today of no value to the world? Unmarried women always have and always will be a great force for good."

Miss Margaret Blodgett of 4449 West Pine boulevard said she believed Miss Helen Gould's answer to the minister was in itself proof of the force of character and fine qualities of the single woman.

"Everyone has a place in the world, whether married or single," she said. "The single woman has time to do many things which the married woman cannot do. And the single women meet their responsibilities cheerfully. There are no drones in the modern hive. At least, no women drones."

Miss Martha Berthold of 4218 West Pine boulevard says the old maid type of the last generation has disappeared.

"I am really too busy to go to a desert island," she said. "The bachelor woman of today has always plenty to do and it is to her credit that she works unselfishly for others. She needs no defense."

MISS HELEN GOULD.

Pastor Wants Miss Gould to Hide Riches and Search for True Love

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo., July 26.

UNDAUNTED by the comment of Miss Helen Gould upon his recent sermon, in which he asserted old maids should be isolated on a barren island as waste product, the Rev. Elmer V. Huffner of the First Christian Church today offered further suggestions to Miss Helen Gould, who criticized his theories.

"Miss Gould is a noble woman," he said, "but her nobleness would be greatly enhanced were she married. I don't attempt to dictate to Miss Gould what she should or should not do. Miss Gould has done more good for humanity than any other bachelor girl in this age and she can still do unlimited good. No woman has done her duty to the world until she has borne children.

"Miss Gould is in a peculiar position because of her riches. She cannot be sure she is being wooed for love alone. The only way to solve this predicament is for Miss Gould to accept a position in the backwoods, incognito. Here she might find the right one, a righteous, industrious man who would love her for her true self. Her riches have handicapped her in the real enjoyment of life, and I dare say she is not as happy in her private car with her maids as is my servant girl.

"If Miss Gould wants two weeks of real enjoyment, two weeks of real happiness, let her disguise herself as a waitress and seek work in a cheap restaurant, let her clerk in a store, or work as a chambermaid, anything so long as she earns her own living and lives on less than $10 a week."

Letters of Criticism Sent to Minister

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo., July 26.—Letters of protest are coming in on the Rev. Elmer V. Huffner, critic of bachelor girls, one of them being from Miss E. L. King of Monterey, Cal., who calls attention to the good done by such unmarried women as Miss Gould, Alice Morgan, Jane Addams, Anne Leary and others, closing with the suggestion "that if it were not for the dear old maids some preachers would be hunting jobs."

A letter which he says he received from Miss Gould reads in part as follos:

"A great many bachelor maids are now living alone not because they choose, but because they have been unable to find a suitable companion.

"I feel that such persons as myself are not hindering the progress of civilization, but advancing it. If I had found a suitable helpmate I might have spent my money in a different way, and a way which might not have done as much good as it has."

Boston Women Are Backing Miss Gould

BOSTON, July 26.—Miss Mary Boyle O'Reilly, a daughter of the poet, John Boyle O'Reilly, said of the Rev. Mr. Huffner's criticism of bachelor girls: "Does he realize that the care of helpless and the weak, the poor and the sick, has almost always been done by the unmarried women who have given up their lives to the service of the church?"

Dr. Laura A. C. Hughes, prominent physician, said: "Like Miss Gould, there are many noble and philanthropic women in this world, and if they had all been wives and mothers, humanity in general would have suffered a great loss."

Dean Mary Coes of Radcliffe College, said: "Further public discussion of such ridiculous statements can be of no value, since intelligent persons cannot fail to realize the absurdity of what this minister says."

Thinks That Scheme Implies Mormonism

PHILADELPHIA, July 26.—Miss Sarah Tompkins, who works much along the same lines as Miss Gould, said of the Rev. Mr. Huffner: "That minister's statement is too absurd to discuss. Miss Gould gave him a quiet, dignified answer. Because some of the single women have not met the man they would marry is no reason why they should be marooned on a barren island."

Miss Vida Hunt Francis said: "You see," unless we practice mormonism, some of us are going to be relegated to that barren island. There are more women than men and what are we going to do about it?"

Old Maids Called Teachers and Nurses

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 26.—Miss Mary Flinn, daughter of former Senator William Flinn, and herself a prominent suffragist, said of the Rev. Mr. Huffner's sermon: "I indorse Miss Gould's opinions that were it not for unmarried women—old maids, you call them—there would be many preachers without employment, wives and homes."

Miss Helen Grimes, suffragist, said: "If it were not for the old maids many of the children born into this world would not grow up. The old maids are the nurses and the teachers."

Miss Electa Harper, prominent in women's clubs, said: "I think Miss Gould is perfectly right. I regard the Rev. Mr. Huffner as a good joke."

Miss Gertrude Gordon said: "You may as well put all the food in the world on a barren island as to put all the old maids into exile."

PICNIC BOOSTS BONDS

West End Business Men Talk for Free Bridge.

The West End Business Men's Association held its eleventh annual outing at Forest Park Highlands Thursday, a total of 18,000 persons attending during the day and evening. The outing resolved itself into a boom for the additional free bridge bond issue.

The association members urged all visitors to vote for the bond issue, pointing out what it would mean for the prosperity of St. Louis, and an entire page in the program was devoted to an argument for the completion of the free bridge. Twenty athletic events were given, including a button-sewing contest open to widows only. The games were directed by Capt. S. Rosenfeld, who distributed the prizes. C. P. Strother was chairman of the Picnic Committee. The association was organized 12 years ago and its president is J. H. Turner. It was one of the first organizations to work for the free bridge.

TO AID EXCISE TAX BILL

WASHINGTON, July 26.—Democratic Senators in caucus today determined to support the House excise bill, virtually levying an income tax on all persons and copartnerships doing business of more than $5000 a year, and to reject the Borah income tax bill offered as an amendment.

There was some opposition to this course.

CLEARS $25,000 AS STOCK OF BANK OF COMMERCE DROPS

George K. Fisher of the brokerage firm of Fisher, Semple & Co., with offices in the Rialto Building, is credited by other brokers with having made a large profit by the recent decline in National Bank of Commerce stock. Well informed members of the Stock Exchange familiar with his dealings, say his profit will be largely in excess of $25,000.

The stock declined within 30 days from $206 a share to $155, the latter figure being reached after the publication last Sunday of the directors' statement that $5,748,000 of doubtful loans had been "charged off" from the bank's surplus and undivided profits. The dividend was reduced from 12 to 10 per cent. The stoc khas rallied somewhat and was qouted Friday at $165.

Sold Short, Some at $204.

Fisher admitted to a Post-Dispatch reporter Friday that he had sold National Bank of Commerce short before the big decline took place, but refused to state the amount. He said some of the first sales were made as high as $204 a share. He smilingly remarked, however, that the stock was sold in the interest of the firm, and not for his individual account.

According to reports circulated in the financial district, Fisher gradually sold 1000 shares of the stock short, borrowing the stock from brokerage houses and investment holders to make his deliveries to the purchasers.

This is the regular method of selling stocks short, adopted by the New York Stock Exchange. That exchange has a loaning department, while the St. Louis Stock Exchange has not.

Fisher Aids Decline.

When the decline started Fisher helped it along by constantly offering the price down on the Exchange, putting out more stock as his profits accumulated. It is said the lowest price at which the short sales were made was $188. With 1000 shares short, the profits on each one-point decline would total $1000.

H. B. Louderman, president of the Exchange, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he knew Fisher had been short a big block of Commerce stock.

The fact that Fisher was short also was generally known on the Stock Exchange, and when the price dropped 17½ points Monday to $164 brokers expected him to cover and secure his profits. It was not until Tuesday, however, when the stock sold around $155, that Fisher appeared as a buyer. He took several blocks of the stock from $155.50 to $157.

Brokers assert also that most of the short stock was covered at private sale, on the street, after the exchange sessions closed, and that the average price paid was in the neighborhood of $160 per share. They estimate the average profits secured on the entire lot at at least $25 per share, which would represent a gain of $25,000.

Fisher lives at 4545 McPherson avenue.

HAZLEHURST A CADET

Taft Appoints Brother of Army Aviator Who Was Killed.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—President Taft will appoint as a cadet-at-large to West Point Dorr Hazlehurst of Evansville, Ind., a brother of Second Lieut. L. W. Hazlehurst, who was killed in an aeroplane accident at College Park, Md., June 11.

The President has 10 of these appointments each year and he has made it an invariable rule to name the sonsof army invariable rule to name the sons of army aviator, however, he decided to violate the rule and appoint his brother.

BISHOP WITHDRAWS; URGES HARVEY FOR CIRCUIT ATTORNEY

His Nomination, He Says, Would Draw 5000 Additional Votes to Democratic Ticket.

In making a public announcement of his withdrawal from the race for the Democratic nomination for Circuit Attorney, former Judge C. Orrick Bishop told 600 voters of the Fifth Ward at a meeting Thursday night that the nomination of Judge Thomas B. Harvey would mean 5000 additional votes for the local Democratic ticket at the November election.

Superior to Other Candidates.

"Judge Harvey," said Bishop, "is superior to any of the candidates, Republican or Democratic, who have been mentioned for this office. He is the best criminal lawyer in this State. There are 15,000 independent voters in St. Louis who are not only willing but anxious to take sides with one party or the other. They will judge the character of the party by its nominees. They want a ticket free from taint, selected honestly and conscientiously.

"The selection of Judge Harvey at the primary election, Aug. 6, would be the best possible indication that the Democratic City Committee is equal to the existing emergency.

"If we are to win we must put up our strongest, cleanest and most experienced man. Judge Harvey fills every requirement of the Circuit Attorneyship.

"His long experience at the bar, his high standing among members of the bar and his popularity among the rank and file entitle him to consideration.

Says Sacrifice Is Made.

"He is making a sacrifice in seeking this office and the voters should see to it that he is nominated."

Mortimer B. Levy, who presided at the meeting, also spoke in favor of Harvey's nomination. E. J. McCullen made a plea for his own candidacy for the Circuit Attorneyship nomination.

MR. MAJOR'S FALSE CLAIM.

The worst feature of Attorney-General Major's campaign for votes on his tax record as a member of the State Board of Equalization is that it is based upon false and deceptive representations.

The claim made by Mr. Major and his Democratic associates on the board is that they have prevented an increase in taxation. As a matter of fact they have not kept taxes down, but have merely voted to maintain an unjust distribution of tax burdens. By voting against the equalizing of assessments in accordance with the Constitution of the State they have deliberately voted to tax one set of citizens more than another.

The Constitution and the laws specifically and clearly make it the duty of the Board of Equalization to equalize the valuation of property for taxing purposes throughout the State. They require the board to bring all property to an actual level by raising assessments that are too low and reducing those that are too high.

The inequalities in assessments in Missouri are notorious. They range from 20 to 70 per cent on land. The percentages in some cases are so low as to amount to an evasion of taxation.

In 1909 Gov. Hadley and Treasurer Cowgill submitted resolutions requiring the equal valuation of all property in the State for taxing purposes. One fixed the valuation at 50 per cent and the other at its full cash value. Both resolutions were voted down by the three Democratic members. In 1912 similar proposals were defeated.

If either resolution had been adopted and the valuations of property equalized taxation would not have increased. If all assessments in the State were raised to cash value, no more taxes would be levied. The tax rate would be changed to fit the new conditions.

Nothing is more reprehensible than for a public officer to violate the law and his oath of office to make political capital. The discredit of Attorney-General Major's disregard of law and duty for political purposes is intensified when he claims the merit of preventing an increase of taxation, but is entitled to the demerit of maintaining tax injustice.

MR. TAFT'S PROBLEM.

The Senate's adoption of the tariff reduction wool bill will seem more important next January than it does in July. The election was a year and four months away when Mr. Taft vetoed a similar bill last year. Will he dare, on the very eve of an election, again to veto lowered cost of blankets for the people?

---

Gov. Hadley denies that at Princeton, Ill., he said that no methods were used in nominating Mr. Taft that the other side would not have used, if it had got the chance. But it is true, even if he did deny it.

HARRY THAW'S PRE-EMINENT SANITY.

Harry Thaw may not possess that complete and rounded sanity which psychologists call universal unity of apperception, but on one vital proposition he is pre-eminently sane, as shown by this almost Delphic utterance in one of the choice "Letters to Evelyn":

The statement fully accords with universal experience and observation, and, moreover, it will have the unqualified indorsement of the Anti-Saloon League. The late Carrie Nation would have embraced the young man for this.

The late John B. Gough, world-famous temperance advocate, could not have said more. On the question of propriety, the celebrated Ruth Ashmore, author of "Side Talks with Girls," could not have put the case more eloquently. The great Edwark K. Bok himself, the god of seminaries and arbiter of elegancies for young ladies, could not improve the Thaw sermon on decorum. We propose Mr. Thaw as associate editor of the Ladies' Home Journal.

WISE PROGRESSIVE POLICY.

Roosevelt progressives have the courage of their convictions and the energy of their strenuous leader. There can be no longer doubt that the third party will be organized.

The mass meeting of Bull Moosers in this city to choose delegates to the State convention at Kansas City was a duplicate of similar meetings throughout this and other states. State conventions have been held in Michigan, Iowa and New Jersey. Plans are being perfected for Roosevelt tickets in all Republican and doubtful states.

The new party i the Roosevelt party. It is organized for and by Col. Roosevelt. The resolutions here pledging allegiance to Roosevelt and support of his policies are typical. In the light of the Democratic party's action at Baltimore, resolutions denouncing both the old parties as instruments of corrupt bossism have a hollow sound.

The perfecting of an efficient party organization of national scope within three months of election is a stupendous task. The outcome is extremely doubtful.

On the point of success it is significant that Frank A. Munsey, one of Col. Roosevelt's principal supporters, expresses his doubt of the possibility of doing more than defeating Mr. Taft and beating him in voting strength. He believes the fight will be between Wilson and Roosevelt, and that Mr. Taft will be third in the election returns.

Mr. Roosevelt and his supporters ought to be well satisfied if they beat Mr. Taft and smash the regular Republican organization. They ought to be satisfied with the election of Gov. Wilson, an unbossed and unbound progressive candidate, and with the demonstration that the Republican party must be reorganized on a progressive basis.

> The nomination of Woodrow Wilson was one of the greatest triumphs for political righteousness ever achieved by any political party. We admire his ability, his fine character, his progressiveness, his honesty and sincerity, but we are not going to vote for him.

Why not vote for Woodrow Wilson? Is the satisfying of Col. Roosevelt's personal ambition the end and aim of the progressive movement? Since Gov. Wilson is the kind of candidate Mr. Osborne describes, and represents what he ascribes to his candidacy, would it not be wise policy for Republican progressives to make his election certain rather than to engage in the doubtful venture of launching a third party, or to support a new party with little possibility of success, and thus endanger the success of the progressive movement?

Republican progressives who are not blinded by Roosevelt idolatry and who cherish the cause more than the man see clearly that the surest way to strike down reaction and promote progress is to vote for Gov. Wilson.

While, generally, it is difficult to find speakers sufficient for the number of audiences, in the current primary campaign it is difficult to find audiences enough to fill the dates of the speakers. Is this an evidence of apathy among the people or of exceptional zeal among the spellbinders?

CUPID IN THE PARK.

We are glad to feel that our Chief of Police will rejoice with us over this bit of tidings from the Land of Flowers:

> Los Angeles, July 25.—A romance which began years ago has resulted in the wedding of Miss Ruth Farley and Earl Pollock under unusual circumstances. The ceremony took place in Griffith Park here, Rev. Maynard E. Beckwith, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiating. The scene was a charming nook where the young couple had done all their love-making, and a large crowd of their friends was gathered. The pair were classmates since early childhood, and passed the park on their way to and from school and took advantage of it.

St. Louis witnessed a like ceremony during the World's Fair. A pair whose love-making had begun in Forest Park were wedded there, in the old pagoda where the band used to play.

Arrests of the spooners might have operated against public policy and retarded the welfare of the state in both of these cases.

Of course, in the parks, as elsewhere, flagrant conduct which violates decency and public morals must be dealt with and punished as it deserves. The Post-Dispatch has only been concerned in protecting innocence against police presumption. This involved a principle of liberty which must always be maintained, and we are pleased to record that the police acknowledge their subservience to it.

Austere old Mount McKinley alone would have had to succumb to the indomitable Prof. Parker, but Mount McKinley plus a furious earthquake was too strong a combination for the time being. On the next attempt the professor will go prepared to climb both mount and earthquake.

THE HANDICAP OF OSCAR REESE.

Oscar Reese, 19 years old, has had a discouraging time since his release from the industrial school at Boonville a few weeks ago. It is necessary that he should earn his own living, but in applying for employment his Boonville experience has repeatedly counted against him. In extremity, he did not unite himself with the forces that live irregularly and lawlessly, but wisely applied to the police, who ought to be and generally are the very best friends of a boy in his trying position.

That a lad has been at the Boonville institution should be no handicap to effort to live honestly. The only offense of many sent to such institutions, including St. Louis' own industrial school, is poverty. The offense of many others is only technical. The busy Police Department does all it can for those who, like Oscar, find themselves at a parting of the ways, but its work should be supplemented by special, organized effort in behalf of those who for many and varying causes have reached the end of their own material and mental resources.

St. Louis should have a Board of Public Welfare to look after just such cases. Many others as much in need of guidance into lives of honest usefulness rather than dishonest uselessness are to be found at all times wherever population is congested.

A safe and sane Fifth of August is promised at Chicago. By the present outlook there will hardly be enough fireworks to draw a crowd.

POSTAL PARENTALISM.

What has been the practice of some Postmasters is now made by the Postmaster-General a rule for all. Persons who want mail sent to the general delivery instead of to their home addresses may be required to furnish the names of parents for notification before being allowed to receive mail at the office.

These are half-way measures with which no one can have any patience.

There is a timorous halting between "may" and "must" in the requirement of reasons in writing. There is total failure to exact a sworn statement of reasons, or a certificate of character, or affidavit of proper motives.

This is a bad-enough display of feebleness for the department in taking up the role of parental regulation of private conduct among the people. But glaring incompetency is shown in the failure to adopt the course obviously the most simple and effective. Let all letters be opened and read at the office before delivery, and let delivery be denied where the judgment is that the contents are not proper for the addressee to receive. It will involve no extra expense to the service, as volunteer reading and judging committees from the community will never be wanting. We are ashamed of the Postmaster-General for his failure to rise to the full demands of that paternalism in government which he favors.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Uphold the Park Commissioner.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Your editorial headed "Snoopers versus Spooners," and your cartoon "Criminals," are efforts against morality and decency. No doubt your motive is to protect sincere lovemakers, but you are going about it in the wrong way. You can not aid true love by shocking the lovers with the sights of licentious indecencies that would be presented to them in an unpatrolled public park. The very lovers that you picture—old and young—would soon be barred from the resorts by improprieties that would horrify them. To properly patrol the parks is a protection to sincere lovemaking. It is a hindrance only to the sort of conduct that is at present casting an air of immorality about these places that should be equally as fit for women and children in the evening as in daylight.

Park Commissioner Davis should have your support in his effort to effect this condition. The responsibility of placing the proper kind of men upon such duty and instructing them as to what should actually be considered a violation of the rules of propriety rests with him and he should be held accountable not only for the moral status of the parks, but also for any despotic tendencies his subordinates may at any time exhibit.

Rock Pile a Nuisance.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I would like to call attention to an eyesore on Franklin avenue, between Twenty-first and Twenty-second streets, on the north side. There is a pile of rock about 150 feet long and 15 feet wide and about 15 feet high, which has been lying there now going on the second year. I think the Street Department or Building Department should compel the owner to remove them. Last winter the people walking on Franklin avenue on the north side would cross over to the south side, as it is dark as a dungeon at night and people are afraid to pass the rock pile at night.

A TENANT ACROSS THE STREET.

Grade Crossings and Rents.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Your correspondent, Henry Mohrmann, creates an issue, trips over same in obfuscation and "busts" his logic. The proposition to abolish the grades is made in good faith to meet conditions prevailing in St. Louis—where, I am proud to say, I was born and raised—theories and speculations, academic and otherwise, may go hang when lives are to be saved.

Mr. Mohrmann's original contention was that any additional tax laid on the landlord was immediately shifted onto the working man. This we know is not borne out, nor never was, by conditions in St. Louis. Except in the choicest portions of our city rents are falling and taxes are higher now than ever in the city's history.

Mr. Mohrmann's statement that rents in St. Louis "are from ten to twenty per cent higher than in any large city in the United States" does not adhere to facts, (as he probably is not aware.) Some large cities annex larger rents than here, some lower. In Chicago, for instance, the tax levy is higher than in St. Louis, still rents are about twenty per cent lower than our landlords get. So much for comparisons, which, as Mrs. Malaprop says, are odorous.

Admitting, for argument's sake, the the working man is the bona fide taxpayer and keeping in mind your statement that high rents "in the better neighborhoods" are the cause of so many "for rent" signs in those neighborhoods, I think St. Louis may justly claim the proud distinction of being the only city in the world wherein the working man is lucky enough to inhabit the "better neighborhoods." O'BRIEN.

Waste of Valuable Fertilizer.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

There has been a great deal of complaint from the people down the river because of the pollution of the water by your city. Much of the filth dumped into the river is the finest of fertilizer and the soil of our proud State is crying out against a profligate people for not feeding it in return for what it yields, by stinting the yield. As one of your associates suggested to me when I visited your office one day to agitate this subject, "most other countries utilize all of the manure that accumulates in their great cities to fertilize their farm lands." Hoping that you will help agitate this important matter, I remain,

Yours truly, GEO. E. MARSH.
Salem, Mo.

Character of Poolrooms.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A good many complaints have appeared in your paper lately concerning poolrooms. While some of them may be justified, yet poolrooms are mostly what the players make them. There are numbers of them conducted fairly well, where the game can be enjoyed by any respectable person, and there are lots of worse places in the city than a decent poolroom. If any young man of 18 years or over won't act right in a poolroom, he won't do right outside one, either—probably worse. I do think, though, as one with some experience in them, that if all boys under 18 were excluded and the police were more watchful in stopping betting games, such as Kelly pool and making them close by 12 p. m., it would be better for all concerned and tend to make them more respected. ONE WHO KNOWS.

GETTING HEAVY.

BRYAN'S PLACE IN HISTORY.

From the Rolla (Mo.) Times.

Some people—ex-office holders—are very bitter in their denunciation of Hon. William J. Bryan because he chose to fight for the people's rights in the Baltimore convention and thwart the attempt of Wall street to get a strangle hold on the throat of honest business. These people, or many of them, rode into places of honor on Bryan's popularity some years ago and remained faithful to him so long as they imagined he had control of politics and turned against him when he thwarted their prospects of being the pie distributors of the State. They were with Bryan for spoils and when they thought the prospect good for someone else to become the leader turned their face toward New York and lost all.

Bryan has fought too long for honest government to sit still and see the interests he had always opposed triumph. He watched the maneuvering of the delegates and when the money interests of Wall street had the situation in their grasp, his voice rang out sharp and cl ar and the people were again in control. Bryan may never be President, but he has a place in the hearts of his countrymen that even death cannot destroy.

JUST CAUSE FOR COMPLAINT.

From today's New York World.

The Roosevelt party in Iowa is beginning to realize what happened to it. One of the resolutions adopted by the Des Moines convention declares that "We here utter solemn protest against what has been done in Chicago and Baltimore in two national conventions."

What was done at Baltimore was to nominate Woodrow Wilson for President, after repudiating Ryanism and Belmontism and Morganism. Nothing could be more devastating to the prospects of a Bull Moose party, and the Iowa Rooseveltians are justified in voicing their resentment. The Colonel feels that way about it, too. "Pop's been praying for Clark."

TIME IN THE SHETLANDS.

From the London Globe.

One portion of the British Isles is not likely to take much interest in the bill for reforming the calendar which is to be introduced into Parliament. The act enforcing the Gregorian calendar was passed 151 years ago, but it is still ignored in Shetland. Almost all through the group of islands the old style of reckoning time is still followed. What we call Jan. 15 is New Year's day among the Shetlanders and celebrated by them with all manner of old observances, including the solemn drinking of the national toast, "Health to man and death to the gray fish."

Court's Wrong Deduction.

From the London Standard.

Complaining at Tower Bridge of her husband's conduct with two other "women-girls," a wife was told by the Magistrate: "Madame, you may be married to a Don Giovanni." The applicant: "Indeed, sir, I ain't nothing of the sort!"

Hope for Papa.

From the Chicago Record-Herald.

A South Side woman insists that when her little boy knelt the other night to say his evening prayer he made this appeal:

"Oh, Lord, you have saved many worse men than papa—why can't you save him?"

JUST A MINUTE.

COMING.

I can't support you, Mr. Taft—
My reasons you perhaps may guess;
But just to make assurance sure,
I'll send them to you by express.

AMONG NATURALISTS.

Some two or three years ago Mr. Julius Hurter, the St. Louis naturalist, was in Denver. Hearing of a Westerner who made a specialty of live rattlesnakes, Mr. Hurter hunted him up. The snake man had a saloon, and the chief attraction in it was a showcase on the bar containing a dozen live rattlers.

Mr. Hurter asked him if he had removed the fangs of the snakes, and he said he had not. His hands bore the scars of many bites, and he explained that when one of his pets was for some reason irritable enough to bit him, he injected permanganate of potassium into the wound and subsequently forgot about it.

This is Mr. Hurter's own remedy for snake bite, but he lacked the confidence in it which the Westerner had, and had taken the precaution through a lifetime of field work not to be bitten. However, he was unable to impress the other with the risk he was running, and left him to his snakes and potassium, to make out as he would.

This year Mr. Hurter was in Denver for the first time since he saw the snake man, so he looked him up. Entering the saloon he found his acquaintance behind the bar, and there on the right was the showcase of snakes.

"What is the matter with your right hand?" Mr. Hurter asked.

"The potassium failed me once since you were in, and I haven't any right hand now," he said.

* * *

Every now and then Mr. Hurter exchanges one of the celebrated alligator snapping turtles of the Sunken Lands for something of equal interest from another part of the world. The alligator snapper is to fresh water turtles what the elephant turtle of the Galapagoose Islands is to the turtles of the sea. Full-grown, it measures as much as five feet from the tip of the nose to the end of the tail, and Mr. Hurter has in his possession now a specimen which weighed, alive, 146 pounds. Offered a broomstick for a possible tidbit, this ill-humored denizen of the Southeast Missouri swamp would clip the end of it off with a single clip.

Not long ago some of the naturalist's friends were looking at the great alligator snapper, and marking the vulture-like curves of his terrible jaws.

"What does he snap with them?" someone asked.

"He snaps his prey," another suggested.

Mr. Hurter is not often facetious, but the temptation in this instance was too strong.

"The alligator snapper?" he asked. "Why, he snaps alligators, of course."

"Do you know of anything we could do to arouse the people to the support of the free bridge bonds?"

"There is only one thing, so far as I know, and that would be to get Harry Troll to come out against them."

THE PENITENT.

"He that is without sin."—John, 8, 7.

Weary and haggard, wan and pale,
The halt and swerving footsteps go,
Low bent beneath Hate's angry gale
The wastrel face is seamed with woe.

And this is the moth and the butterfly
That swept to the stars for a golden lie,
That tortured love with a flaming cry!
That bartered her soul and ancient name,
That tarnished her wings in the scarlet flame
For the bauble and gaud of the crimson shame!

"Forgive, O, God!" and the wintry air
Swept o'er her face and lo! it was fair!
"Forgive, O, Christ!" and the icy flood
Swept o'er the heart that throbbed a prayer;
On the rocky cliff, in the ruddy glare,

L'ENVOI.

And the penitent's prayer shall forevermore

HENRY JUNE PATEE.

People who have nothing to expect from either of the old parties are, of course, numerous, but whether there are enough of them to form a third party is a question.

POLITICAL ZOOLOGY.

There was a fat tiger named Murph,
Whom Bryan ruled off of the turph.
"For your methods," said he,
"Do not look good to me:"
Our winner is no Wall street serph."

HANDICAPS OF AN ONLY SON.

From the National Monthly.

A family on the North Side have several children, but only one—the oldest—is a boy. The little lad grew used to sisters, but longed for a brother. The boy was 12 recently, and the house was rather upset in anticipation of something or other. The father was busy and the son had to sift the ashes and care for the furnace. At this juncture a nurse appeared on the scene and two days later she came to the little boy.

"What do you think you've got?" she asked him.

DATES.

P. L. E. U.—Republican platform was published in the Post-Dispatch June 2; Democratic, July 3.

P. M.—Union Station opened Sept. 1, 1894. Some railroad men then thought St. Louis never would require a station of such magnitude!

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

K. M.—Season well; cook long; seal securely while hot—are three rules which should insure good catsup that will keep a long time. I know none better. Lay the bottles on their sides in sand and turn every month. Cucumber catsup: Take three dozen cucumbers, peel and chop fine. Take also four onions (good size) and chop fine. Add three-quarters cup of salt. Mix cucumbers, onions and salt very thoroughly together. Put the mixture in a clean cloth placed over a large colander and leave it all night to drain. Next morning add to the chopped cucumber and onion half cup white mustard seed and a half cup black mustard seed, two tablespoons celery seed, and two tablespoons whole peppers. Mix well and pack in glass jars, filling only half full. Boil enough vinegar to fill the jars. Let the vinegar cool and then pour it into the jars. With a silver fork stir the cucumber as you pour in the vinegar, to make sure that the whole mass is saturated with the vinegar. Screw the tops on your jars and then put them away in a dark place.

LAW POINTS.

BACHMAN.—Merchant not a druggist may sell patent medicines in his store without a license to sell medicines.

J. J. H.—Being hired subject to rules and regulations of the house, you can be docked under the circumstances you mention.

TAXER.—The city generally waits until near 5 years delinquency has set in before suing for taxes. Penalty for non-payment is one per cent for each month, 12 per cent for 12 months, 24 per cent for 2 years, etc. In the county this is not the custom, the outgoing collector suing all delinquents at such time, whether one or more years delinquent.

A. E. W.—You cannot file a lien. Bring suit in Justice of Peace Court for your bill. However, should you obtain judgment, it would not be superior to the mortgage; and if not the homestead have an execution issued and his equity sold. If a homestead all you can do is play a waiting game and keep the same and the lien thereof revived. Or you can garnish his wages.

WM. HE.—The four heirs can sell their interest without the joinder of the other, whose wife refuses to sign the deed; as a purchaser, however, would not buy unless he could purchase the interest of all, the only recourse is a partition suit by the heirs which is a very costly proceeding, but the only way out of the difficulty. The wife's signature is necessary in your case.

SUBSCRIBER.—A has a perfect right to raise his lot above that of his neighbor and B has a right to put up the 4x6 plank; water is the common enemy of all and neighbors must protect each other the best they can. Just as long as neighbor does not in some way collect the water in a body and in such state it drains upon adjacent lot, nothing can be done. We admit some neighbors are not very considerate, that such should not be.

MISS C. A. A.—If you default in any of the monthly payments the holder of deed of trust could foreclose and your paying one or two thousand down would make no difference. However, should reverses come you should have no trouble in borrowing enough to pay off the outstanding monthly notes by a straight 3 year loan, your equity being about 70 per cent of the value of property and you should see that the deed of trust secured by monthly notes has clause therein giving privilege to pay off one or more notes at any time. By a straight 3 year loan the interest is payable every 6 months.

PEARL.—We don't know who named the cemetery. In Norse mythology Valhalla was the hall of the slain; the palace of immortality, whither by direction of Odin, the souls of the slain were borne to immortality by the valkyries or maidens sent by him to point out those to be slain in battle.

WARTS.—Small growths, or warts, on face or hands may be removed by acetic acid. Application is best made by means of the point of a wooden toothpick, once or twice each day until the growths have been dried up. The process is comparatively slow; but it has the advantage of being painless and harmless, and is said to leave no mark on the skin afterward.

NEGATIVE NUMBER TWELVE

THE POST-DISPATCH DAILY SHORT STORY

ROBERT MARCH arranged his trays and developer, turned out the gas, unrolled the film and cut it up. In doing this he mixed the pieces together, carelessly, he thought at the moment, but later he was convinced that it must have been under some powerful occult influence. Eight pictures developed with excellent results, and March put the last four into the tray, hoping for the same good luck with three of them. Great was his surprise and consternation to find an image beginning to appear on each of the four films. Where was the blank? Hastily he counted the other eight. They were all there. He turned to the four in the tray, and as the images became clearer was able to account for three of them. But the fourth—the mysterious No. 12? Plainer and clearer it became every minute—exquisite in contrast, perfect in detail! Plainer and clearer and fairer appeared upon that marvelous film the picture of a woman's face.

What did it mean? No. 12 had never been exposed. No. 12 should have remained a dead-white, unresponsive blank. And here, instead, was this astonishing result—a beautiful portrait!

The face was half turned away, partially revealing a regular profile and rounded throat. The eyes were large and expressive. The hair, brushed simply back from the forehead, was dark, and of that naturally wavy growth that scorns the crimping iron. These details he studied later, but even in the negative he could see that she was indeed very beautiful—of a type that appeals vainly for adequate description.

For a long time he sat reasoning, questioning and speculating—and then he made a discovery. The paper pad that had engrossed his attention earlier in the evening lay on the table near the tray of developer, some of which had spilled over the edge, and on the sheet thus wet by the liquid he read these words:

the rose

Startled beyond measure, March nervously spread the developer over the whole of the paper and was rewarded by seeing darken slowly on the sheet the following lines:

If thou wouldst see an unseen face,
Search in the heart of the rose unblown—

Robert March could have given afterward but a vague account of his subsequent proceedings that memorable night. He had a confused recollection of soaking with developer all the blank paper within reach, and of feverishly continuing his experiments till the first cold rays of dawn shone feebly in upon him.

His roommate, who came in late, he remembered, seemed to take much interest in his wonderful discoveries. John Barden was also an enthusiastic photographer, something of a chemist, a dabbler in all kinds of novel experiments, and a good fellow withal. He gave many suggestions to March, who eagerly devoted all his leisure for several weeks to further develop the art of thought photography, for which he sought vainly for a scientific basis.

One day, when March had about made up his mind to abandon his fruitless labors, Barden came into the room and tossed him a roll of film.

"Well, what of it?" March asked.

"Use your head, man—think a little. Here's an answer to your mystic poetry! It's the language of symbolism, to be sure, but what does it say about a 'Rose unblown,' and what the winds trace on the 'Waters'?"

But he tried the film, and after that solemnly vowed to call no one fool! On every exposure of the Rose & Waters film he got a picture. All that was necessary was to hold the camera up, gaze a moment at the closed shutter, and then pass to the next number on the roll.

But the resulting photographs were curious in the extreme. Some showed a few treetops with a mountain in the distance, or the dim outline of a cloud. Some exhibited a bit of water with a pond lily or a grassy bank at the side. Some were only nebulous spots, grouped strangely together. One was a shadowy and darkly draped figure. And one—one was another picture of the mysterious lady!

After that, March's enthusiasm knew no bounds. He continued his experiments and got other pictures and more mysterious messages on films and paper that John procured.

He was to join a little house party to be given by John's sister, Ruth, at their cottage in the Berkshires.

Mrs. Barden and Ruth were on the piazza to welcome John and his friend when they drove up, and as March mounted the steps two other young ladies rose from rattan rockers to be presented.

"Miss Ballard; Miss Trenslow."

Robert stood as if in a dream, overcome by a torrent of indescribable emotions. In this beautiful girl, Miss Trenslow, a hundred times morely lovely than he had ever imagined, a palpitating creature of flesh and blood, he recognized the prototype of his mysterious photograph!

During the brief outing thus begun March found no opportunity, under the peculiar circumstances, to do the experimenting he had promised himself, though he was continually importuned to do so, especially after John Barden had one evening more than hinted at the existence of two "thought portraits" of a lady. Then he had no peace till he consented to make some experiments in the presence of the others, and agreed that the last Saturday night of their stay should be devoted to "a demonstration of the power of thought in photography," as John called it.

"Come down in the lane by the brook at 10 o'clock."

It was undated and unsigned, but March felt sure that it came from Miss Trenslow, and was hardly surprised to discover that the writing was the same as that of his mysterious quatrain. He found a very serious and troubled look on Miss Trenslow's lovely face as she held out her hand and said quickly:

"Mr. March, I have done you, unconsciously, a great injury. You have been completely deceived in all your apparent discoveries in thought photography. I am ashamed to say, almost entirely through my agency. I was in New York a few weeks ago, and your roommate took a picture of me with your camera, thinking you would make a double exposure and get a 'ghost' of me, but never imagining what really happened. Then I wrote that miserable doggerel, to try a new sympathetic ink he was experimenting with, and before he was ready to develop it you did so accidentally. The joke has gone so far beyond his expectation that he wrote me about it, and I took those fantastic pictures and sent the films down to him. It all seemed such an innocent hoax—how that I realize how serious a matter it is, I just had to tell you, even if you can never forgive me!"

"I thank you very much, Miss Trenslow, for taking me into your confidence before John had a chance to play another prank upon me before the others. And now—now will you do me another and still greater favor?"

The bright look of relief breaking through the pink flush that now suffused the sweet countenance was his sufficient answer before he added: "Promise to help me get even with John."

The thought photography seance that last night of vacation was a great success. March suggested that the experiments would much more likely be favorable if those present would concentrate their thoughts on some one thing, and Fanny proposed that they all think of Mr. Barden.

The first picture developed proved to be that of a donkey, and created a laugh. The second was another donkey, and evoked a roar. With a third donkey came jibes at John's expense, increasing with successive donkeys. At the sixth or seventh he broke away from the circle around the ruby lamp and flung out of the room, half in anger and half in amusement, letting in a flood of white light which, March declared, spoiled all the rest of the films.

* * * * * * *

Over the desk of Robert March now hang two small photographs—one of his beautiful wife, printed from Negative No. 12, and the other of a little donkey with large ears. They are cherished mementoes of the most important and daring experiment of his life—and one that has been highly successful.

SEVEN MODERN WONDERS OF THE WORLD

At the request of Popular Mechanics seven hundred international scientists voted on a list of 56 wonders selecting the modern seven wonders of the world. Wireless telegraphy led the list with 244 votes. The telephone received 185 votes and the aeroplane 167.

By ALBERT F. ZAHM, M. E., PH. D.

Its essential features are mainly of English origin. In 1809 and 1810, Sir George Cayley, the father of the aerial glider, published accounts of his models which coasted down hill slopes in good balance, fore and aft and laterally. He determined the power expended by gravity in such flights, and estimated the weight of motor required for dynamic flight.

The aeroplane glider with a superposed plane surfaces was patented in England by Wenham in 1866, and with superposed concave surfaces by Phillips in 1884. Phillips at that date had determined, by use of a wind tunnel, the value of various favorable concave forms of wings very like some of the best in use today.

The present three-torque system of control, comprising a vertical rudder, a horizontal rudder and a pair of allerons operable by hand or automatically, was given to the world by Boulton of England in 1868. Systems of torsinal wings together with vertical and horizontal rudders for controlling flight were publicly described by Ader in France, and the present writer in 1893. Skids for landing were shown on Ader's machine at about the same date. Floats for starting from water were used by Kress of Vienna in 1898. Patent specifications for a complete hydro-aeroplane with two floats and the three-torque system of control were drawn by Mattullath of New York in 1899; the claims being allowed subsequently.

Before the close of the nineteenth century the gasoline engine had been proposed for aeroplane propulsion, and several were actually constructed for that purpose. In 1898, Balzer of New York undertook to build for Langley an air-cooled 5-cylinder rotatory gasoline engine of 12 horsepower, weighing 100 pounds. From this as a start, Manley built for Langley a radial 5-cylinder fixed gasoline engine of 50 horsepower, weighing 200 pounds. This was the first motor in history adequate to propel a passenger aeroplane in prolonged flight. It was designed in 1900 and completed in 1907, after experiments with a quarter-size model.

The passenger gliding machine was first successfully used by Lilienthal of Germany, then by Pilcher of Glasgow, and by Chanute and Herring of Chicago, who perfected its trussing to the modern form of concave biplane. These were all balanced by the rider shifting his weight as he hung beneath the surface in flight. Subsequently the Wright brothers used a biplane glider, and Prof. Montgomery a monoplane glider, in which they made successful flights by using the three-torque system of control, previously invented by others. The ultimate aim of the human glider was to achieve soaring flight; but this has not yet been satisfactorily accomplished.

As to the first human power flights, Ader is reported to have flown 150 feet in 1890, in a wheel-mounted monoplane driven by a steam engine actuating twin-screws, and Maxim, three years later, rose from a track in a steam-driven multiplane, weighing 3.5 tons and lifting more than a ton of extra load. Neither machine was suitably proportioned for stable and steady flight.

On May 6, 1896, Langley launched a steam monoplane model which flew over 3000 feet with good inherent stability. On Aug. 8, 1903, he launched a gasoline model monoplane which flew with good stability and ample reserve power for a voyage of many miles. It was the first successful gasoline aeroplane in history. On Sept. 7, 1903, Langley launched the first gasoline passenger aeroplane of adeqaute stability and power for prolonged flight.

On Dec. 17, 1903, the Wright brothers successfully launched a gasoline-driven aeroplane, which carried a passenger 59 seconds and landed safely. Three short flights were made that day. These famous trials satisfied the witnesses and many others that the aeroplane "had come to stay." Their aeroplane was controlled by an embryo and dangerous three-torque system, in which the vertical rudder was compelled to turn in proportion to the warping of the wings. The independent working of the wings and rudder system was practically introduced in subsequent years by the Wrights and by Montgomery, though previously invented and patented by others.

In the winter of 1911, Mr. Curtiss made the first successful flights from water in a hydro-aeropiane, thus adding a new and most valuable realm to the dominion of aviation.

We have thus briefly sketched the growth of this wonderful vehicle of the air from the time of its first inventors. Scientist Cayley and Engineer Henson, through its many radical improvements to the present day. It is truly a century-long creation, still in the experimental state, and far from commercially practicable But though still an "enfant terrible," the aeroplane has achieved excellent records. It has attained a speed of 104 miles an hour in a closed circuit, has flown nearly 14,000 feet high, and has carried 13 passengers at once, their weight aggregating 1440 pounds. It has flown through storm clouds, over mountains, seas and continents. It has voyaged by compass over inhospitable routes, from city to city, faster than the eagle or the railway locomotive. When finally perfected sufficiently for regular transportation, who will be called its inventor, and what will be its rank among the marvelous mechanical triumphs of human genius?

What are clouds? Clouds are made up of moisture that has evaporated from the earth and has partially condensed again.

What is hail? Hail is rain that, in descending, has passed through some cold body of air which has frozen it into drops of ice.

Why does a cracked bell give forth an unpleasant sound? The crack in the bell gives forth a double vibration. The sound waves thus impede one another's motion and produces a discordant noise.

Why are certain air currents on the Atlantic and Pacific known as "trade winds?" In the days of sailing ships these winds, which always blew in one direction, were of great service to merchant vessels.

Why are Esquimaux so fond of oil and whale blubber? Oil and blubber contain quantities of carbon and hydrogen which are very combustible and add to the body's heat.

What is the derivation of the word "Spinster?" In old times a woman did not marry until she had spun a full set of household linen. Thus, till they were married, they were known as spinners or spinsters.

Why is a certain section of beef called "sirloin?" An English King, being greatly pleased by a loin of beef set before him, declared it was "good enough to be knighted." Hence the expression, "Sir Loin," or "sir-loin."

What are freckles? There are two kinds of freckles. One sort is caused by the action of the sun upon the skin, causing the skin to produce a certain pigment in spots. Such freckles are not permanent. The other kind is caused by a superabundance of iron in the blood.

Confessions of a MERE MAN

TRANSLATED BY HELEN ROWLAND

"SOMETIMES," remarked the Rib, toying pensively with her spangled fan, "I just can't help ADMIRING men!"

"Gracious!" exclaimed the Mere Man, almost dropping his cigarette in his astonishment, "when do you have such moments of weakness?"

"Oh, every now and then—at long intervals," answered the Rib, "when I happen to come face to face with one of their big, broad-minded beautiful virtues. It almost makes me choke right up—to think how petty I am!"

"My dear girl!" cried the Mere Man solicitously, "you ought to see a doctor. You have a touch of fever."

"Nonsense!" retorted the Rib, coming out of her reverie with a little shake of her white shoulders. "Last night I saw a pert little singer go up to a charming, dignified, white-haired judge, put her hands on his shoulders and sing: 'He's My Daddy!' And he never winced—just sat back and LAUGHED at himself with the rest of us! A WOMAN would have slain her on the spot!"

"That's just it!" cried the Rib. "A man doesn't seem to have any tender spots—not even his bald spot. Think of the things we say to a man that we wouldn't DARE say to a woman. We never hesitate to remind him that he's growing fat, or gotten thin, or losing his looks. We meet an old friend and exclaim, 'Why, hello, Bobbie. My! how gray you're getting!' or 'What's the matter? You're looking seedy today.' Fancy greeting a woman that way!"

"A woman never thinks of refraining from telling her husband that he needs a shave or that his clothes don't fit," continued the Rib, "but let him meekly suggest that her nose needs a little powder and—well! When SHE comes down dressed for a dinner party he is always expected to rhapsodize and to exclaim, 'My darling, you look like a dream—or a queen—in that frock!' But when HE appears for inspection she turns him around critically, begins picking specks off his coat, remarks that his tie is crooked or that his collar looks too big, and inquires why he can never make his top hair lie flat and keep his shirt front from bulging. She loves to point out other handsome men to him; but if he dares so much as to remark, 'My dear, what a charming girl that is at the next table!' she takes it as a personal insult, and keeps him either ice-bound or in hot water for a week."

"Well," remarked the Mere Man, "any man who is fool enough to do a thing like that deserves to be either frozen or fried alive. A chap sort of gets used to having his physical defects thrown at him, from boyhood. In fact, he feels that he doesn't amount to much if he isn't distinguished by some sort of insulting nickname, such as Bricktop or Freckles or Fatty or Skinny or Runty."

"That's it!" declared the Rib impulsively, "a woman will have herself parboiled and skinned alive in order to attain the masculine ideal of beauty; but a man never fancies that a little thing like a bald head or embonpoint could mar his fatal fascination."

"They can't," retorted the Mere Man nonchalently. "If his brain and his pocketbook are big enough, the size of his feet or his waistline doesn't make much difference."

"A man's weak spot!" answered the Rib. "It's in his INTELLECT. You can call a man FAT or call a woman a FOOL, but beware of reversing the two. A woman will suffer all sorts of insults to her intelligence, if her husband only will go on pretending to think her the most beautiful being on earth, and a man will endure all sorts of slurs upon his figure or his nose, if his wife only will keep on telling him that he has the most wonderful judgment and the most brilliant mind and the strongest character in all the world."

"Um," agreed the Mere Man. "But the difference between a man and a woman is"—

"Just the difference between vanity and conceit," concluded the Rib, decisively. "But," she added, patting the Mere Man's coat sleeve, consolingly, "all the same men ARE nice."

"Cupid's Forelock."

THE mythic figure of Opportunity has been represented with one lock hanging over his forehead and the back of his head quite bald. This is to signify that it is quite impossible to catch him once he has passed by.

It seems to me that the fate of the little god Cupid might exhibit the same tonsure. For the girl who lets love slip out of her grasp isn't going to get it back again in a hurry.

A young man pours all his honest affection and admiration into the lap of a silly young woman. And she laughs and teases and plays with him, and, when she is tired of the game, nods goodby. And then, if I may judge from many letters, she finds out too late that he was the "real one," and she asks how to win him back.

Another Suitor.

O. H. writes: "I am in love with a beautiful girl, but I have found out that another young man is calling on her. Do you think it would be wise to stop my visits to her?"

If you do you will be easily discouraged. An attractive girl who is not engaged will naturally have numerous callers.

Let the Girl Decide.

H. C. writes: "I have paid attention to a girl for some time, but recently she told me she should accept another young man's attentions. It would nearly break my heart to give her up. Do you think that as a gentleman I should do so?"

You must ask the girl, and let her decide according to her happiness.

Monopoly.

E. H. writes: "I am very much in love with a girl and she has promised me to accept no other attentions. But she does not want me to go out with others unless I ask her consent. Do you think she is asking too much of me?"

Are not you asking the same thing of her. What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander.

Cost of Living.

C. E. Writes: "I am a young man earning $8 a week. Would it be possible for me to live on that sum without any help from my family?"

Foolish Flirtation.

B. H. C. writes: "A young lady was walking home one evening and a young man followed her to her gate and by a small excuse got her name and address and the next day sent a letter to her asking if he could come to her home some evening. Would it be right for her to answer.

No, most positively no. If a man is properly attracted to a girl he will have someone vouch for him and be properly introduced to her.

Nothing to Do but Wait.

C. H. writes: "I am deeply in love with a young man, but don't know if he loves me. Please tell me how to find out."

He will tell you if he loves you. Wait.

There Are More Beautiful Girls.

J. S. A. writes: "I am 19 years old and am in love with a girl 17. She refused to go with me; but said her mother objected. She worked in a candy store and I often went in there, but she won't talk to me any more, and sent my photo back, also my ring. Please advise me: shall I give her up, or do you think I may win her yet?"

Give her up. She does not care for you. Do not make yourself ridiculous by further attentions.

The Danger of Imitations.

An Ohio druggist writes to "The Practical Druggist," a prominent New York Drug Journal, as follows: "Please furnish formula for Castoria. All the formulas I have worked with are either ineffective or disagreeable to administer."

To this "The Practical Druggist" replies: "We do not supply formulas for proprietary articles. We couldn't if we wanted to. His experience with imitative formulas is not surprising, but just what is to be expected. When Castoria is wanted, why not supply the genuine. If you make a substitute, it is not fair or right to label it Castoria. We can give you all sorts of laxative preparations for Children, but not Castoria, and we think a mother who asks for Castoria would not feel kindly toward you if you gave her your own product under such a name."

BRESNAHAN ASKS FIVE STARS FOR MILLER HUGGINS

Egan, Phelan, Marsans, Severeid and a Pitcher All He Wants.

DEAL IS PROBLEMATICAL

Trade Was Talked of During Last Meeting of Teams in Cincy.

By W. J. O'CONNOR.

If Manager Bresnahan can pilot his Cardinal entry under the wire next October in advance of Hank O'Day's Reds, he will cause the appointment of a new manager in Cincinnati for 1913. The Reds finished below St. Louis last season and if they fall back to sixth place again this year, Garry Herrmann surely will cast about for another tactician.

This may mean the promotion of Miller Huggins to the managerial ranks as boss of the Rhineland Reindeers. And in this connection it can safely be said that Herrmann will pay a fancy price before he ever acquires the Rabbit.

When the late M. Stanley Robison obtained Bresnahan from New York, he paid the biggest price any owner ever paid for a manager and player. He virtually wrecked a fair-looking pitching staff to get Bresnahan, and Herrmann will have to do as much to get Huggins. Indeed, Huggins will be held as a pawn with which Bresnahan can hope to get enough championship timber to make the Cardinals a pennant contender in 1913.

Deal Was All but Closed.

When the Cards paid their last visit to Cincinnati rumors were afloat that Herrmann and Bresnahan had a big trade on. Indeed, it was said that a deal was all arranged, but was blocked only after Hank O'Day was called in. Hank refused to sanction a trade which would bring Huggins to Cincinnati, realizing that Huggins would be looked upon as the next manager. This particular trade, it was said, involved Koney also. In return for the Cardinal stars, Herrmann was willing to give such luminaries as Hoblitzel, Egan, Mitchell, Marsans, Severeid, O'Keefe and possibly Phelan. But such a deal undoubtedly would put Herrmann in wrong with his patrons. It was too lopsided.

A Banner Price Demanded.

Herrmann can afford to part with Egan, Marsans, Phelan, Severeid and a pitcher to get Huggins and unless he sees fit to make such a sacrifice, he probably never will have the Cardinal second sacker. Should the proposed trade be made, Bresnahan would then have a sterling outfield in Evans, Marsans and Magee. He could play Egan on second, use Phelan for utility infield duty and have Severeid to help Wingo out with the backstopping.

That Bresnahan will do less catching next year than he did this season goes without saying. Roger has slowed up and is not as valuable to his team as he used to be. However, in Wingo he has the most promising youngster in the League, while Severeid and Bliss should round out a fairly nifty receiving corps. Any pitcher Roger can snare from the Reds will be an improvement on Woodburn and Dale and could be retained for second string duty. Either O'Keefe or Suggs would be valuable assets in this respect. The question is, can Roger swing such a deal?

Many Called, Few Make Good.

Seven new managers were trotted out in the two big leagues this season. The American showed five brand-new bosses—Griffith in Washington, Davis in Cleveland, Wolverton in New York, Stahl in Boston and Callahan in Chicago. Wallace started his second campaign. Kling in Boston and O'Day in Cincinnati were the newcomers in the parent body.

The season now is half over and Griffith, a National League castoff, is the reigning sensation of the American League. Stahl is also creating a big noise in the Johnsonian body, although he had the material when he took hold and his success is not a surprise. Callahan is doing as well as anyone expected. He beat the barrier at the start, but has slowed down to his own pace now that the season is well under way.

WRAY'S COLUMN

TYRUS TOTTERINGLY SH-H-H!

WHEN Ty Cobb failed to break from the mark with his accustomed alertness this spring, amateur referees of the baseball world began the ten count. They reached almost as high as the count of "two" before they discovered that Ty had merely stubbed his toe.

Today Cobb has passed .420, which indicates the wonderful consistency of this great player. Not only has Tyrus not fallen but he has consistently advanced his performance over that of the previous season—a feat he has accomplished each year of his big league career with a single exception. Here's what the baseball guides tell us of Ty's record for the last six years:

| Year. | AB. | R. | H. | Av | Rank. |
| 1906 | 605 | 97 | 212 | .350 | 1 |
| 1907 | 605 | 97 | 212 | .350 | 1 |
| 1908 | 581 | 88 | 188 | .324 | 2* |
| 1909 | 573 | 116 | 216 | .377 | 1 |
| 1910 | 509 | 106 | 196 | .385 | 2 |
| 1911 | 591 | 147 | 248 | .420 | 1† |
| 1912 | 339 | 76 | 143 | .422 | 1† |

REAL LEADER SIX YEARS.

THAT'S an average of about .385 for his big league term—a mark that is absolutely unapproached by any hitter since the foul strike rule was adopted. Since Tyrus became league leader in 1907 he has been the actual leader of his league, although nominally first Criss and then Jackson led him, on two occasions. Criss' 64 games, however, only represented about 100 times at bat and Jackson did not officially face the pitcher that many times. "Dode" was doing the "pinch" stunt then and Jackson was just breaking in.

• • •

HE MAKES FEW "SCRATCHES."

BEFORE the present season ends, Tyrus will probably again be at the top in the base stealing brigade. The fact that Tyrus seems to have lost a fraction of his pilfering efficiency without affecting his batting mark is a damper to those critics who have ascribed some of Ty's base-hit scoring ability to his speed in beating out infield taps.

RESTORING RACING.

THE matter of restoring the racing game will probably be brought up more seriously to the public, within a year or two, and legislatures will doubtless be asked to pass upon the question of permitting pari-mutuel machines to operate at race meetings in states whose doors are now closed to the sport. The really alarming exportation of thoroughbred sires has caused even army circles to wonder whence the mounts of the future are to come from, if the breeding industry of the country dies out.

• • •

WHEN racing does come, if ever, legislatures should clamp the lid hard and fast on the racing form chart. More than any other single factor, the form chart was responsible for the frenzy of racetrack betting which a few years ago swept the country. It gave to its reader all the information concerning performance and condition of horses which could possibly be set down in figures, and left the reader in doubt only as to the sincerity with which a horse's owner was racing him. It enabled John, Bill and Dick—at least they thought it did—to know just as much about Jim's nag as if it were their very own.

The game will always be in hot water as long as such aids to speculation circulate freely.

• • •

CLARK GRIFFITH'S success with the Washington team is being pointed to as showing that it is possible at any time to build up a winner, if only a club's owner makes up his mind to have one.

But what of the other years that Clark has been in the game, when he had the unlimited bank rolls of Frank Farrell and Garry Herrmann back of him? Was Clark "laying down" then?

With all due respect to Griff's undoubted smartness, good fortune probably helped the Senators as much as Griff. Think of a club landing four or five live ones after the season has started! It's practically unheard of in baseball.

However, once under way, Griff has certainly manifested his resuscitated hand splendidly; he has obtained more and better work from his pitchers than his predecessors.

REASON FOR EVERYTHING.

All the lightweights in the country are eager to take on Ad Wolgast right away. Of course, the fact that he has not yet fully recovered from his operation for appendicitis plays no part in their desires.

Promoter Refuses to Grant Wolgast's Prices for Bouts on Coast

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26.—Ad Wolgast and Mrs. Wolgast are on their way to Cadillac, Mich., today, negotiations between the champion and Promoter Coffroth for a match with Ritchie, Rivers or McFarland having failed. For a bout with Willie Ritchie, or the winner of the Murphy-Attell fight, Wolgast demanded $15,000. His figure for Joe Rivers was $20,500, and he scheduled the same amount for Packey McFarland.

The total of $36,500 for the three fights, with a demand for a share of the moving picture rights, caused Coffroth to declare the negotiations off. Tom Jones, Wolgast's manager, remained in San Francisco.

"Wolgast will not be ready to fight any more before Thanksgiving day, and that is final," he said. "He will not even consider an offer for an earlier date than this. He is going home and will stick on the ranch until probably October. Wolgast has been a busy boy since he won the title and he will need a little rest."

THIRTY-TWO ENTERED IN FIVE-MILE SWIM

Thirty-two athletes have signified their intention of starting in the five-mile river swim under the auspices of the Western Rowing Club, Sunday. This total is not as great as the one of 1911, but William Westhus, in charge of the event, is holding open the list and expects at least five Chicago swimmers, as well as several other local men to hand in their names before starting time.

The start will be from under the Eads Bridge at 8 o'clock, with the finish opposite the Western Rowing Club at 5000 south. Westhus announces that each swimmer will be required to furnish his own rowboat and attendant. The boats, however, will not be permitted to make pace for the swimmers.

Among the latest entrants are: Leon Eberhard, Stag A. C.; Fred Henneféld, Central Rowing Club; Gus Marty, St. Louis Rowing Club; George S. Land and George P. Beck, Ferguson, Mo.; R. E. Hueston, Arthur Mormeter, Harvy Erb and Everett Friede, all unattached.

Street Goes to Providence.

"Gabby" Street, who won much fame as the battery mate of Walter Johnson while with the Washington team, has been released by the New York Yankees to the Providence (International League) team. During the winter Street was traded by Clarke Griffith to the New York club for Infielder Jack Knight and Catcher Williams. Knight has also returned to the minors.

BROWNS PLAYING FAST GAME, EVEN THOUGH BEATEN

Stovall's Team Pleases Philadelphia Fans by Snappy Work in Last Series.

PHILADELPHIA, July 26.—Manager Stovall and his Browns boarded a sleeper here last night for home, after winding up their Eastern trip with a doubleheader in this city.

In the second game Hamilton tightened up on the Athletics after the Browns added a cluster of three runs, in the seventh, to a single tally already scored in the sixth. Hamilton was in good form and staved off an attempted rally in the eighth. The final score in this game was 4—8, the Athletics having started the tallying in the fourth with two.

The Browns chased Carl Brown, who started the second game for the Philadelphians. Houck, who replaced him, did better.

The usual time for an American League contest here this year has been from two hours to two hours and 40 minutes. On Tuesday St. Louis made a record for Shibe Park for this season by completing a game in 1h. 34m., while the opening game yesterday took only 1h. 35m.

An odd double play cropped up in the eighth inning of the first contest, with Hogan on first base and one out. Mitchell hit to McInnis. The latter got the ball while on the run and threw to Barry, forcing out Hogan. Barry relayed the ball to Coombs, who covered first base, and Mitchell was doubled up.

The best work of yesterday's opening game was done around the shortstop position. Each short fielder performed a spectacular stunt in the seventh inning. Barry ran out into left field, almost to the foul line, and grabbed a fly off Daly's bat. The latter got even a few minutes later. Lapp landed on the ball hard and sent it on the line for what looked to be a three-base drive. Daly timed the ball nicely, went into the air and while stretched to his limit caught the horsehide.

Both Barry and Daly also handled several other chances in fine style. In the first three innings of the second game the Athletics got only two balls out of the infield, these being a single by McInnis and a fly to Shotton.

In the third Hamilton fanned the side, his victims being Egan, Brown and Lord.

The sluggers, Baker and Pratt, both failed with the bases filled. Baker tried to get out of the way of a pitch and the ball collided with his bat and rolled to Hamilton for an easy out. Pratt's big chance came with one out and the sacks loaded in the seventh inning of the second contest. He hit the ball to Houck and a double play resulted.

BILL: Am glad I proposed. The diamond you bought of Loftis on credit is a beauty.

50 YARDS SWIM WILL FEATURE CRYSTAL MEET

A special 50-yard race, for which medals have been offered, to be followed by exhibitions of fancy and high diving by professionals, has been scheduled at the Crystal Natatorium, Cook and Channing avenues, tonight.

The meet will be started immediately after the regular session.

Jack Bishop of Atlantic City, who for over a year dived from a height of 125 feet twice a day, and Joe Ahearn of Kansas City are two of the professionals who will do stunts.

Dick Fitzgibbon, the Crystal's fast amateur, who swam a fast trial five miles in the river yesterday, in preparation for the Western A. C. five-mile race, will work out tonight at the Crystal.

TWO JULY 4 BOUTS TO BE SHOWN HERE

Lots of glove swinging will be on tap in St. Louis next week. The moving pictures of the Flynn-Johnson and Wolgast-Rivers fights are to be shown here. Beginning Saturday evening at the Garrick, the efforts of Jim Flynn to batter down Jack Johnson will be shown twice daily. The Wolgast-Rivers contest is scheduled at the Gem Theater starting Sunday afternoon.

LACLEDE MEMBERS TO HOLD ANNUAL EVENTS

The second annual outing and picnic of the Laclede Council, Knights of Columbus, will be held at Upper Creve Coeur Lake Sunday. A baseball game between teams composed of married and single members is on the program in the morning, while track and field, swimming and rowing events will be staged in the afternoon. There are other events for members and the friends.

ROGER BUYS PITCHER BURK FROM SUPERBAS

NEW YORK, July 26.—Manager Dahlen of the Superbas today announced the sale of Pitcher Burk to the Cardinals. club has been after Burk for two Manager Bresnahan of the St. Louis years. Dahlen has not been able to get much work out of the youngster so he passed him along to Bresnahan for a cash consideration. Burk will join the Cards in Boston Saturday.

Backsliding Veterans of Last Year Now Show Return of Former Skill

Matty, Powell, Evers, Leach and Other Aged Ones Come to Life Again During the Present Season.

There's Matty, of the Giants. He was dismissed as a "spav" by most of the wiseacres this spring, but "Big Six" reenters New York Friday as the hero of the Giants' campaign through the West. He stood up under fire while the common enemy was scuttling the Giant ship and his record of four consecutive conquests over the Western clubs undoubtedly entitles him to the lion's share of the cheers at the Polo Grounds Friday. Matty's mark of 16—5 for the season is second only to Marquard's 21—3 record.

However, Matty probably will receive every bit as much recognition from the home fans this week as will the left-handed hero who was twice beaten by the Cards on the same day.

Evers Surely a "Comeback."

Another "old-timer" who is setting the woods afire this season is Johnny Evers. The little Trojan of the Cubs is playing the same caliber of ball that he showed in 1908. Indeed, his work has been sensational all year. When Evers broke his leg in the fall of 1910 and the Cubs had to play the Athletics without him, it was the start of one of the toughest runs of bad luck that a ballplayer ever encountered. Not only did Johnny's health fall him, but his business ventures went wrong; but in spite of these reverses, he came back, and is recognized as one potent reason why the Cubs now are in second place in the National League.

Then there's Tommy Leach, who also is playing great ball for the Bruins. Tommy was counted out by Barney Dreyfuss and traded for Artie Hofman, who is at home recovering from a nervous breakdown. Leach is driving in a big percentage of the Cubs' runs.

Cravath of the Phillies, who had been in the big arena before he went back to the Association to lead the bingle bangers of that league, is playing great ball for Dooin. Gavvy has beaten a youngster, "Doc" Miller, out of a job, and he figures to be the permanent right gardener for Dooin.

There's John Powell, Too.

Of course, it would be bad form not to mention Jimmy Callahan as an ancient returned, and also Hans Wagner, who is traveling at a juvenile's gait. Likewise John Powell, who stands out as the most reliable curvist on Stovall's club, is a recovered veteran. Then there is Tom Hughes, who is doing his share of the working in holding the Washington climbers in second place. He's prospering after having graduated from the minors a second time. Without the "spavs" the game wouldn't amount to much.

Larry Doyle, Mayor?

Larry Doyle, the dashing captain of McGraw's Giants, probably will be Mayor of Bresse, Ill., next year. He can have the nomination if he wants it, and it is said that both parties will unite, giving him the office by acclamation. Larry is not averse to the proposition, as he would like to have a smattering of politics before he takes the count in the big ring. He figures by breaking into the political game now he will be pretty well versed in the "sport" by the time he must quit baseball. It's a serious proposition with Doyle.

FIRST ROUND REACHED IN O'FALLON TOURNEY

The preliminary round having been disposed of, play will begin in the first round of the O'Fallon Park Lawn Tennis Association tournament Saturday afternoon and continue Sunday afternoon. The pairings for the first round are as follows:

Saturday Afternoon.

Sherwood vs. Schuessler.
Poertner vs. Boettler.
Struckmeyer vs. Conrades.
Joergens vs. Jostis.
Baltzer vs. Camp.

Sunday Afternoon.

Stone vs. Eickmeier.
Paul vs. Opel.
Von Brichter vs. Oonk.
Plunkett vs. Nauman.

The first round in the doubles will be played Saturday, Aug. 3.

It was necessary for Hughey Jennings to use Bill Donovan in right field and also at third base in the twin show with the Nationals. Dubuc beat Hughes and Vaughn in the first, while Johnson trimmed Mullin and Works in the windup.

BLUE SLIPS HANDED TO M. CROSS AND NELSON

Another sweep of George Stovall's ax has clipped off the heads of two more Brownies, according to Ban Johnson's latest bulletin. The deposed athletes are Monte Cross, who started out as chief of the scouting bureau, and Albert "Red" Nelson, right-handed pitcher.

Nelson has figured in some hard luck this season. Just when his arm seemed to be rounding to form he would meet with some sort of accident that would keep him on the shelf. He has been passed over to the Sioux City (Western League) team.

Cross failed to send up any startling youngsters and is free to sign wherever he chooses. Lou Criger continues in the hunt for future Brownies.

Luther McCarty to Get Workout Against Stewart

Al Palzer Side-Steps Bout With Man Who Put Out Carl Morris.

A letter from Billy McCarney, manager of Luther McCarty, the Springfield boy who knocked out Carl Morris a few months ago at the Springfield (Mo.) Athletic Club's stag, states that McCarty has a hard time getting any of the big ones to go on with him.

McCarney and McCarty have been in the East for many weeks now, seeking a bout with Al Palzer. Last week Palzer was dropped, he asking too big an end for any of the clubs to take notice.

Instead, writes McCarney, McCarty has been matched to fight Jim Stewart, the Brooklyn Giant, at the Brooklyn Athletic Club Aug. 5.

McCarty is meting a dangerous fighter, one who has strength, weight, skill and a punch. He is probably tougher game for McCarty at this stage of the Springfield youth's development than is Palzer.

UNCERTAIN TONE MARKS TRADING IN WALL STREET

EXCHANGE MARKET FIRM

Indications Are That Export Movement of Gold Will Be Resumed.

NEW YORK, July 26.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"The stock market lost much of the enthusiasm that it showed during the final trading of yesterday, and, after some activity at the opening, it became rather dull and narrow. Prices held firm, however, and there was a strong undertone throughout, with sharp gains in one or two shares.

"On the advance there were few offerings and in some of the standard shares the buying appeared to be heavy. Announcement that some of the transcontinental lines would soon advance rates sharply, so as to bring the long and short haul charges upon an equal basis, and thus conform with the principles laid down in the recent decision, excited a good deal of attention.

"The statement was not altogether clear, however, concerning certain important details, so that it is not known what the exact effect will be on different roads. The move was interesting as showing what the railroads may do to fortify their earnings and make up for the enforced freight reductions.

"The foreign exchange market ruled strong again and very near the basis where gold could be shipped to Europe. "No engagements were made, however, as the Bank of France would not continue the inducements held out last month, when the July 1 payments were being arranged for.

"The stock market paid little attention to the Washington news, but the developments indicated that much of the buying by banking interests was based on private advices touching the satisfactory progress of the crops.

"The banks put out relatively little money on time, and such offerings as were made appeared to be chiefly for the short periods. Some of the largest Wall street banks confined their offerings to loans made on call.

"In the afternoon the market rallied again and under the leadership of Great Northern preferred and Northern Pacific the whole list advanced sharply. During the upward movement the Hill stocks and Union Pacific developed a heavy tendency and failed to advance with the rest of the market.

"In the last hour the market became much quieter than yesterday, and some of the active stocks lost a portion of their early improvement.

"There was a better tone to prices abroad, due in large measure to the improvement in consols at London, where the high-grade investment issues were a trifle firmer.

"There were signs that the congestion of securities at London was being gradually relieved, and that fewer offerings would be pressed for sale.

"On this point, however, the news was not convincing, for the problem of working off the great mass of securities in the hands of the syndicates is a difficult one.

"There were rumors that some of the foreign banking interests had resold in this market many of the American securities purchased earlier in the year. These stories, however, were not verified and it was not at all clear who the buyers were or how the sales were effected at a time when the markets here were stagnant."

"The preliminary returns covering the week's currency movement showed that the banks were still gaining cash on the direct movement from the interior. The increase of $6,000,000 shown in today's forecasts was a trifle less than the gain of a week ago and it was evident that the currency movement was beginning to be affected by the preliminary drain of cash to the crop sections.

"The indications point to a fairly strong bank return tomorrow with some interesting changes in the loan item. It is probable that the large operations in the foreign exchange market will have important bearing upon the weekly bank return."

Expectancy of Better Fund Inquiry Holds Local Rates Firm.

Conditions which have more completely developed in the past week indicate emphatically that the demand for funds is going to continue. The St. Louis banks and trust companies now recognize that an average 5 per cent money market is to be the rule and not the exception for the ensuing 60 days, and their preparations for the outflowing funds to the crop-growing sections have been made accordingly.

Acceptances of prime commercial paper at 4¾ per cent have been noted in some instances, but this figure is freely bid for 30, 60 and 90 day accommodations at the present time.

New York Money.

NEW YORK, July 26.—Money on call steady, 2½@2¾ per cent; ruling rate, 2¾; closing bid, 2½; offered at 2¾. Time loans easy; 60 days, 3¾@3¾ per cent; 90 days, 3¾@4; six months, 4¼@4½. Close: Prime mercantile paper, 4½ per cent. Sterling exchange steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.87 for 60-day bills and at 4.8770 for demand. Commercial bills, 4.84¾. Bar silver, 60⅝c. Mexican dollars, 48c. Government bonds steady; railroad bonds easy.

American Stocks Score Gains in the London Market.

LONDON, July 26.—American securities were quiet during the early trading today. Canadian Pacific advanced 1¾ points, while the rest of the list ranged from unchanged to ¼ higher than yesterday's New York closing. The market hardened in the late trading on New York buying and closed steady. The general settlement was concluded without trouble.

Hogs Make Record.

CHICAGO, July 26.—A new high level for the year was established in the hog market today. The top was $8.35. Cattle were strong. Calves showed a gain of 50c. Live mutton trade steady to strong.

COTTON MARKET MAKES ANOTHER HIGH RECORD

NEW YORK, July 26.—The cotton market opened firm at an advance of 3 to 11 points, making new high records, in response to higher cables, prospects for continued clear hot weather in the Southwest and continued apprehension of a bullish August bureau report, which were promoted by unfavorable reviews of conditions in Arkansas and Mississippi, and by the National Ginners' report, issued late yesterday, showing a deterioration of 5.8 per cent for the month. There was heavy realizing around 12.75c for the new crop months and the market reacted 7 or 8 points from the best, but firmed up again during the middle of the morning on continued trade buying and covering by early sellers.

The market turned easier late in the forenoon under continued realizing and a private crop report making the condition 81.7 against 83.9 last month, thus indicating a deterioration only a little over 2 per cent. Prices sold off to about the closing figures of last night and the market at midday was more or less unsettled.

Rumors that certain large bull operations in the Eastern belt were realized helped to unsettle the market after the reaction to about the closing of yesterday. Prices rallied 4 or 5 points during the early afternoon on trade buying. The closing was steady.

LIVESTOCK

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill., July 26.—Comparative receipts table:

| | Today. | Week Ago. | Year Ago. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Cattle | 1,500 | 901 | 1,695 |
| Hogs | 6,000 | 5,218 | 6,794 |
| Sheep | 700 | 1,197 | 2,694 |
| Horses and mules | 200 | 25 | 125 |

NATIVE CATTLE—The run aggregated 1000 head. Steers showed no change. Butcher cattle sold slow and weak. Cows and bulls manifested a steady tone. The same was true of calves, which topped at $9. Stocker market quiet and steady.

SOUTHERN CATTLE—Arrivals totaled 500 head. Buyers were keen after supplies and the market ruled in good shape. Trade was active and prices fully steady. The offerings consisted mainly of Oklahoma grassers.

HOGS—But a small supply was received and the market averaged 5c higher and the highest for several months. The top was $8.35 for several loads, while the bulk went at $8.05@8.30. Butchers and shippers paid $8.25 and upwards, while the mixed offerings went at $8@8.20. Best pigs and lights sold extra well and brought $7.75@8.25. There was no material change in the trade during the day and the close was firm, with a good clearance. Twice the number of hogs on sale were needed to meet the demand.

SHEEP—Lambs were 10@15c higher, while sheep were on a steady basis. Best lambs brought $6.75@7.15; fair to medium grades, $6@6.65; mutton sheep, $4.10@4.30; stockers, $2.50@3.50, and bucks, $3.

HORSES AND MULES—The horse market today presented a fairly active appearance for a Friday. The bulk of sales was to the Southern buyers, who were here for the big range horse sale and needed a few animals to fill out their loads. Fresh receipts included about 100 head.

The mule trade continued on an unchanged basis from the earlier part of the week. All classes sold on a fair basis, with miners and good big mules changing hands on the most aggressive basis. Fresh receipts included about 100 head.

MODERN MILLER.

ST. LOUIS, July 26. — Threshing of wheat is delayed by the urgency of cutting the oat and hay crops, and of the cultivation of corn, together with a scarcity of men to do the field work. Much of the soft winter wheat is dark and tough, having been cut when not fully matured, and a considerable percentage is of light test weight. Hard winter wheat is of excellent quality.

Reports of black rust damage in North Dakota, sent in by crop expert B. W. Snow, gave wheat futures a steady tone Friday. Cables also were fractionally higher on less favorable crop advices from Russia. Other news was mixed.

Crop news from the Southwest was highly favorable and the Daily Drovers' Telegram of Kansas City placed the wheat crop of that State at 96,497,432 bu. The average yield per acre is estimated at 14.8 bu. Corn condition is 82.8, against the Government estimate of 84 per cent on July 1.

The Liverpool wheat market opened steady and ¼d to ½d higher. Weakness in America yesterday was offset by unfavorable Russian news and an improved demand for cargoes, which were firmly held. Following the opening there was further covering on the light Argentine shipments and smaller shipments from Australia, with a pronounced firmness in spot, mostly 1½d higher, with shorts covering. During the morning there was some realizing, which resulted in a moderate decline, with a quiet demand for forward shipment and private reports from America of a record yield of spring wheat.

Liverpool corn opened ⅜d higher on the unfavorable Argentine weather and lighter Argentine shipments, with a large reduction in stocks there. Following the opening, the market was firmly held.

B. W. Snow wires from Sheldon, N. D.: "There is bad outbreak of black rust in a limited district around Chaffee in southwest part of Cass County. It first developed in fields half mile from town and these three fields, about a thousand acres, are practically a complete loss. There is now about 25 square miles involved where rust either already shows, or where the wheat is late enough to yet be infected. It has spread rapidly. This district was all spring plowed and seeding was late and most wheat will not be ready to cut for about two weeks yet. Outside of the district indicated everything seems to be in good shape, well toward maturity and free from rust. A drive of 141 miles in Cass, Ransom and Richland Counties shows crops entirely satisfactory everywhere, except the small local trouble around Chaffee."

Broomhall cabled special Russian news service: "Weather generally favorable. Yields will be over average, but arrivals will be two weeks late at ports owing to recent wet weather. Southeast weather fine for harvest."

Liverpool wheat closed unchanged to ¼d higher, corn, ½d higher. Paris wheat, 3⅜c lower to ¼c up. Antwerp, ⅝c lower. Berlin, ⅝c higher. Budapest, unchanged.

Total clearances wheat and flour, 139,000 bu; corn, 5000 bu; oats, 40,000 bu. Bradstreet's exports showed:

| | Wheat and Flour. | Corn. |
|---|---|---|
| This week | 2,057,000 | 99,200 |
| Last week | 1,984,000 | 45,000 |
| Last year | 2,514,000 | 250,000 |
| Two years ago | 1,246,000 | 316,000 |

Exports wheat and flour July 1 to date, 9,530,000; same period year ago, 7,338,000 bu.

Exports corn July 1 to date, 2,639,200 bu; same period year ago, 2,759,000.

Chicago wired: "Rust is reported in parts of Saskatchewan and that there are also bullish reports in regard to frosts, too much wet cool weather, with moderate acreage in many sections."

Local wheat receipts today, 293,773 bu, or 966 sacks, 209 cars local, 34 through; last year, 128,700 bu, or 109 cars local, 8 through. Corn receipts today, 75,600 bu, or 44 cars local, 19 through; last year, 67,200 bu, or 36 cars local, 20 through. Oats receipts, 74,300 bu, or 39 cars local, 5 through; last year 125,800 bu, or 68 cars local, 6 through.

Chicago wheat cars today were 331, corn 96, oats 60. Estimated tomorrow: Wheat 346, corn 142, oats 107.

Broomhall estimated the world's wheat shipments for the week, exclusive of North America at 8,000,000 bu. Total shipments a week ago were 10,762,000 bu, America included.

Australian wheat shipments for the week totaled: 384,000 bu against 440,000 bu last week and 480,000 bu last year. Indian 2,504,000 bu against 2,832,000 bu last week and 1,696,000 bu last year.

Minneapolis wheat cars today totaled 105, last week 102, last year 102. Duluth had 6, last week 3, last year 22. Winnipeg had 102, last week 212, last year 195. Minneapolis wheat stocks decreased 335,000 bu for the week.

Argentine wheat shipments for the week totaled 2,320,000 bu, against 2,944,000 bu last week and 1,832,000 bu last year. Corn, 4,497,000 bu, against 5,878,000 bu last week and none last year. Wheat shipments Jan. 1 to date, 77,798,000 bu, against 71,402,000 bu last year. Corn, 61,708,000 bu, against 2,960,000 bu last year.

Corn futures were weak in the early market but rallied late along with wheat. There were some complaints of lack of moisture in Kansas and Nebraska, but conditions generally were unfavorable. The cash demand continues fair, especially on the weak days. The Western Grain Dealers' Association estimates the total corn crop at 2,924,000 bu. Oats were easy on a break in the July option in Chicago from 50c to 47⅞c. Trade locally was quiet.

The Jarr Family

By Roy L. McCardell

A cafe concert on the topic of talking dogs

"WHAT is it I hear about a talking dog they have at one of them theaters?" asked Bepler, the butcher.

"Sure, it's a big fake!" said Rafferty, the builder. "I know how it's done. It's an old story."

"What's an old story?" asked Mr. Jarr, who had come into Gus' at about this time.

"The story of the talking dog," said Rafferty. "Every child in Ireland knows the story of Shaun the Bullock and his talking dog."

"Maybe every child in Ireland knows it, but I don't," said Mr. Jarr.

"Who's buying?" asked Gus, with a bored air. No old Gaelic tale could possibly interest him. "By Gollies, there is so much talk and so little business done these days that sometimes I think I am running one of these talking clubs—what you call 'em——?"

"Debating societies," suggested Mr. Jarr.

"What's the story of Shaun the Bullock's talking dog?" inquired Mr. Jarr, while all present except Gus prepared to listen, for Rafferty, with a significant gesture, had indicated his convivial intention of treating.

"Well," said Rafferty, "Shaun, the Bullock, was the strongest man in Ireland. He could throw an anvil over the rock of Cashel. And that ain't all. He could throw his voice, for he was full of cunning tricks as well as the great strength he had, and the likes of him ain't known in these days at all."

"That throwing the voice ain't nothing," said Gus. "I know of a place in the Schwartzwald, in Germany, where you can throw your voices against a wall in an old Schloss and it bounces against you eight times. Anybody can do it."

"I'm not talking of echoes," said Rafferty. "I'm speaking of something different entirely. Shaun, the Bullock, could throw his voice without his lips being seen to move, so it would seem the words was coming out of his chest."

"Of course, the words came out of his chest," said Gus. "How else could he talk 'em?"

"I mean his chest of clothes, his trunk, his box," said Rafferty. "He could throw his voice into the mouths of animals and it would seem they spoke the words."

"Ventriloquism?" suggested Mr. Jarr.

"That's the Gaelic for it," said Rafferty, "but these wooden heads wouldn't understand the word."

"Go on mit the story," said Gus.

"Well," Mr. Rafferty resumed, "Shaun, the Bullock, had a fighting dog that he would throw his voice in his mouth, Shaun would, and it would seem the dog spoke. One day he takes the dog into Paddy Mailia's—O'Malley they call the name now—shebeen, and has him talking about what horse would win on the Curragh and gets Paddy all excited like, and so Paddy offers Shaun three guineas for the dog, which Shaun takes.

"'And is it that you are going to sell me for three dirty bits of goold?' says the dog—it being Shaun throwing his voice all the time, mind you.

"'That I am,' says Shaun, natural like.

"'Then I'll never spake another wurrud,' said the dog. And, of course, he never did," concluded the narrator.

"Why wouldn't he?" asked Gus, who had never heard this bit from the folklore of many nations.

"He was a bob-tailed dog and his remarks were curtailed from that on," explained Mr. Jarr gravely.

"But this dog I hear about, it ain't no talk or funny business at all," explained Bepler. "Schmidt, the delicatessen man, heard him, and then, THIS dog talks in German."

At these words Gus took notice. "Then it's chenooine," he said, "for know why? My Printzie he is raised by my wife's (Lena's) father in Hoboken, and every word what is said in German he can understand. Vatch!"

And turning to the dachshund Gus aimed a terrific kick at him and bellowed "Raus!" Whereat the alarmed Printzie gave one yelp and bounded out of the cafe.

"See that?" said Gus. "'Raus!' it means 'Get out!'"

"By Gollies! I believe you that a dog can talk German," said Mr. Slavinsky. "How much does it cost to go to that theater to hear him?"

"Klotz, the wholesale dill pickle maker, he takes Schmidt," explained Bepler. "Schmidt says Klotz paid $2 a ticket."

"It's too much," said Mr. Slavinsky. "I wouldn't pay it to hear a dog talk."

"That's right," said Gus. "But don't you care, Slavinsky, we'll wait till they have that talking dog in the moving pictures; that'll only be 10 cents."

"Sure!" said Mr. Slavinsky. "Gus, you are a smart feller!"

The Cannibal—Who, me? Oh, I'm the food inspector.

HOW TO BECOME

A CRITIC.

ASCERTAIN by experiment or by consulting a competent physician, if such there be, just what foods agree with you. Shun these foods systematically and religiously.

After six months of this treatment begin to write, saying exactly what you think upon any topic under the sun.

A FINANCIER.

GO into a broker's office and watch the ticker attentively for a few minutes. Select some stock that fluctuates rapidly and make a guess whether it is going up or down.

Back your judgment by buying or selling, as the case may be, as many shares of this stock on margin as your means will allow.

AN AVIATOR.

AN AUTHOR.

Get the book published. If you find that all the publishers have formed a conspiracy to deprive the public of the fruits of your intellectual labors, have the book printed at your own expense.

But in any case you are an author.

AN ART CONNOISSEUR.

FIRST accumulate a lot of money, the more the better.

EXTRA!

Silhouette Sayings

"No, son. A magnate is a man that can owe lots of money!"

IN McGINTY'S DEPTH

(A few deep sea soundings.)

Mr. Hopper—Guess we got cheated, Mirandy, when we bought that carrot fish. He ain't spoke a word since we've had him."

Mrs. Red Mullet—Careful, children! Don't venture through the fence into that bull-head's field. He's cross and he hates reds!
